JERSEY FILES ANSWER

Baruso Still Battles Move To Extradite Him

New Legal Step To Combat Despite Approval Of Extradition By Gov. Davey

HEARING HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Baruso's Next Legal Maneuver To Escape Sentence Here; In Mahoning County

Although Governor Martin Davey of Ohio, has signed requisition papers for the return of Sam. Baruso from Youngstown, O., the battle to return him is not yet over. The next step will probably be a habeas corpus hearing in the Mahoning county courts.

District Attorney Mont L. Ailey returned early today from Columbus, O., as did Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard, where on Wednesday the extradition hearing was held. However, Baruso has a $15,000 bond posted and has demanded a hearing in Youngstown.

The question of whether the charge of conspiracy in Pennsylvania will hold in Ohio entered into the controversy, it is stated. The charge under which Baruso was indicted here does not exist in Ohio. The fact that he is a fugitive from justice here may decide the issue. Baruso was picked up last May (Continued On Page Two)

Three Generations Of Roosevelts In New York Hospital

Chief Of Staff In Charge Of Patients Is Also A Relative

(International News Service) GLEN COVE, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Three generations of the Roosevelt family were lying ill today in North County Community hospital.

All are under the care of Dr. Richard Derby, the hospital's chief of staff, to whom they are related. Mrs. Edith Kermit Roosevelt, 74-year-old widow of former President Theodore Roosevelt, who has been at the hospital for a week with a fractured hip, was reported as having spent a comfortable night. Her condition is "satisfactory," it was said.

On the same floor lay Miss Sarah Alden Derby, 16, daughter of Dr. Derby, who is the husband of Mrs. Roosevelt's daughter, Ethel. Miss Derby was brought to the hospital from the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore. She became ill while in school in Maryland.

In a nearby room, Mrs. Grace Lockwood Roosevelt, wife of Capt. Archibald Roosevelt, and Mrs. Roosevelt's daughter-in-law, lay stricken with appendicitis. She was admitted last night. According to physicians, an operation will not be necessary.

Pittsburgh Coal Company Attacks New Control Act

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Another attack on the constitutionality of the Guffey-Snyder bituminous coal act was made in federal court here today by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the district's largest producer.

The company asked for an injunction against the imposition and collection of penalties and taxes provided for by the act and a decree that the act be declared unconstitutional and void.

Officials Who Are To Retire Given Banquet

First Gathering Of The Kind Ever Held In Lawrence County, Says Judge

SHORT SPEECHES MUSICAL PROGRAM

Appreciation of services rendered by retiring Lawrence county officials was shown last night when a banquet in their honor was given by fellow workers at the Castleton hotel. It was the first time in the history of the county, according to the toastmaster, Judge James A. Chambers, that a banquet had ever been tendered to outgoing officials.

Recipients of this honor were Judge R. L. Hildbrand; Prothonotary Ralph M. Campbell; County Treasurer William O. Pitts; County Controller R. C. McCaslin, and County Commissioners, P. O. Elder, Elmer Conner and Franklin R. Woods. They occupied a special table at one side of the banquet hall, while county officials and employees numbering around eighty, sat at seven tables arranged through the center.

Informal Program
The affair was delightfully informal, starting out with group singing and a prayer by County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr., Judge James A. Chambers acted as toastmaster. His opening remarks were to the effect that he never realized there were so many county employees until they all got together. He said that for eight years he had been intimately associated with retiring Judge R. L. Hildbrand. During all that time their relations had been most pleasant. He said that from his knowledge of Judge Hildbrand he had always carefully studied his work.

Newly Elected City Officials Talk To Downie

Discuss W. P. A. Program For City In Conference On Wednesday

For the purpose of familiarizing themselves with the setup of the Works Progress Administration, Mayor-elect Charles E. McGrath, and Councilmen-elect J. Myron Rice and James Leon Pink held a conference with WPA Director J. Vale Downie on Wednesday afternoon.

No commitments were made on either side, the conference being merely for the purpose of acquainting the new officials with what is being done and what might be done later.

Quake Is Felt In Hawaiian Islands

(International News Service) HILO, T. H., Nov. 21.—The city of Hilo and the island of Hawaii on which Hilo is located were rocked today by a violent earthquake which started rumblings in Kilauea, famous volcano, with the imminent danger of an eruption.

The tremor struck at 3:45 a. m. (PST) and lasted for more than a minute.

Chinese Fear New Move By Japanese In North China Plan

(International News Service) PEIPING, Nov. 21.—Despite the collapse of the Japanese movement for creation of an autonomous federation in North China, Chinese fears persisted today that the schemes of Major Kenji Doihara, Japanese special military commissioner on the continent, have not yet been decisively defeated.

Grounds for the Chinese apprehensions became evident when Col. Takahashi, commander of the Japanese garrison here, told International News Service the autonomy movement is still strong despite yesterday's debacle, in which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek called Doihara's bluff and squashed the autonomy drive for the time being.

Atmosphere Still Tense
Takahashi, who yesterday attempted to deny the Doihara ultimatum to China regarding establishment of the proposed autonomous state in the five Northern Chinese provinces, said today that (Continued On Page Two)

Cancel German Steel Contract

New York Bridge Job To Use Steel Made In United States

FRENCH CEMENT ORDERS BANNED

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The steel piling to be used in the construction of the Triborough bridge here will be of American manufacture and not of German importation, it became known today.

Because of the nation-wide storm of protest that arose when the placing of the $19,000 order for the steel abroad became known, the contractor, the Woodcrest Construction company, has cancelled its German sub-contract and placed a new order for the steel with the Jones and Laughlin Corporation of Pittsburgh.

Henry Hack, vice president of the Klockner Steel corporation, the German firm which was to have furnished the piling for the bridge, declared his company would not insist the contract be carried out, but added:
"If American steel is used, it will mean a complete change in the type of construction. The fact cannot be (Continued On Page Two)

Fire Threatens New Wilmington Business Block

Blaze In Cellar Of A. And P. Store, Fills Block With Heavy Smoke

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE BY BLAZE

New Castle Fire Truck Makes Trip To Scene But Service Not Needed

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 21.—Fire, of undetermined origin, discovered in the cellar of the A. & P. store at 9:05 o'clock last night, filled the Shaffer block on the main street with smoke, and for some time threatened to destroy the building. Small damage was done by fire but considerable damage was done to the stock and equipment in the block by smoke and water.

The blaze started in a pile of cardboard and paper boxes under the back end of the A. & P. store, reports A. A. Shaffer, owner of the building, and dense clouds of smoke were soon rolling out of the windows. It was practically impossible to enter the cellar, but New Wilmington firemen finally fought their way to the blaze which was rapidly making headway, and gained control.

No Estimate Of Loss
Officials from the A. & P. store could give no estimate as to their damage but the contents of the store were badly damaged by smoke and water. Officials say that the contents of the store were not covered by insurance.

W. A. Shaffer, proprietor of the Barber Shop adjoining the A. & P. store on the north, estimated his damage from water and smoke at $150. The contents of his shop were not covered by insurance.

The kitchen of the "Dutch Inn" adjoining the A. & P. store on the south was damaged considerably by water. The estimated damage could not be given by Charles Aggas, proprietor of the restaurant. The contents were partly covered by insurance.

For a short time the rooms upstairs were filled with smoke but no damage was done by fire or water.

A. A. Shaffer, owner of the building, could give no estimate of the (Continued On Page Two)

President Is Enroute South

Will Spend Two And Half Weeks At Warm Springs

SPEAKS IN ATLANTA ON NOVEMBER 29

By GEORGE DURNO International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL ENROUTE TO WARM SPRINGS, GA., Nov. 21
—Two problems—national politics involving his own re-election and formulation of the 1936 budget—promised to occupy a major portion of President Roosevelt's attention during the coming two and a half weeks he will spend at Warm Springs, Ga.

Today, a special train was hustling the executive southward down the Atlantic seaboard to his cottage on Pine Mountain where he annually spends Thanksgiving.

The train schedule was so arranged that Mr. Roosevelt was passing through no less than six stops in Georgia this afternoon. Automatically this tended to build up the "home-coming rally" he will address at Atlanta on November 29. This is the meeting which loyal administration Democrats of Georgia have organized as an indirect rebuff to governor Eugene Talmadge, an outspoken critic of Roosevelt policies. A crowd of 150,000 and upwards has been promised the White House.

After running through North and South Carolina in the early morning the Roosevelt special will pass through Toccoa, Cornelia, Gainesville, Atlanta, McDonough, and Griffin, Ga., before reaching Warm Springs in late afternoon.

Germany Prepares To Increase Size Of Army

By PIERRE J. HUSS International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—A surprise proclamation was signed by the Berlin police president today, notifying the classes of 1913 and 1916—more of Germany's "war babies"—to hold themselves subject to call for army and navy service.

This move theoretically swells the numerical strength of the German army to the neighborhood of 1,000,000 men.

The proclamation, which was plastered on Berlin street cars and elsewhere, declared prospective recruits must be registered by February 10, 1936.

It failed to explain, however, whether the two classes will be summoned to the colors or merely kept ready for service at a moment's notice.

Official sources for the moment were mystified by the proclamation, and were trying to clarify its exact meaning.

Statistics show that male births in 1913 in Germany numbered approximately 623,000, while those in 1916 numbered only 340,000. The decline was the result of effects of the World War.

Army authorities estimated that approximately 50 per cent of the round statistical numbers can be regarded as prospective recruits.

Republicans Must Look Westward For Nominee For President Next Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Carefully despatching the question of the enormous public expenditures as next year's campaign issue, a representative group of Republican mayors agreed today that their party must look westward for its presidential nominee.

A poll of the G. O. P. mayors attending the annual United States conference of mayors here, however, disclosed no outstanding choice of candidates among the many who have been suggested.

WPA Quota About Filled

District Will Have 12,424 Men At Work By End Of Week

ABOUT 800 WILL BE CALLED FRIDAY

By the end of the present week the quota of workers for the Works Progress Administration district 14, will likely be filled, Director J. Vale Downie, stated today. The quota for the district is 12,424 workers and the call for about 800 men on Friday will about fill it.

Here in Lawrence County the quota is 3437 workers and the figure today is near that, Butler and Mercer county quota are filled which leaves Beaver County the farthest away from their quota. The Friday call will bring them up to the quota strength.

At the present time there are 52 projects under way in Lawrence County divided about fifty-fifty as to highway projects and projects in communities.

Should there be projects accepted for the city of New Castle such as street paving or anything else, men will be withdrawn from the highway projects and put at work in the city.

Woman Is Awarded $10,000 Heart Balm

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—To assuage the pangs of heartbreak and wounded pride she suffered when her sweetheart jilted her after a 22-year courtship, a jury today had awarded Miss Nellie Smith, 51, a dressmaker, $10,000 against Clarence L. Moore, 52, grey-haired railroad clerk.

Miss Smith, who demanded $35,000, testified Moore first proposed to her in 1912 after they had kept company three years but finally broke off after their intimate friendship had spanned 22 years. Moore denied he ever agreed to marry the woman and announced he would seek a new trial.

Says Hauptmann Fairly Convicted In State's Trial

New Jersey Attorney General Combats Charge Of "Circus Methods"

ASKS COURT TO UPHOLD VERDICT

Expect Supreme Court To Make Ruling On Appeal December 9

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Denying that Bruno Richard Hauptmann was convicted by "circus methods," Attorney General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey today asked the supreme court to uphold his death sentence.

Hauptmann, he asserted, was fairly convicted of the kidnapping-murder of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The state's answer to Hauptmann's petition to the high court for review of his trial and conviction in the little Flemington courthouse was filed by Assistant Attorney General Joseph L. Lanigan of New Jersey.

Expect Decision December 9.
The high court is expected to rule December 9 whether or not it will review the case. If it declines to intervene, a date will be set for Hauptmann's electrocution. If it accepts the case, oral arguments will be ordered.

Wilentz made a bristling defense of his summation to the Lindbergh jury, which Hauptmann's lawyers charged, was unfair.

He denied that there was any variance as to the theory of death of the child and asserted that the cross examination was proper.

He scored Hauptmann's charge that the presence of Colonel Lindbergh in the courtroom prejudiced his trial.

Quiet Reigns At Barberton

Small Crowd Of Strikers Around Plant After Last Night's Outbreaks

(International News Service) AKRON, O., Nov. 21.—A small crowd of strikers continued to mill about the plant of the Ohio Insulator Co., in suburban Barberton today, following a night of disorder, but authorities anticipated no further disturbance.

The last of a series of pitched battles around the plant was staged shortly before midnight last night when the factory's gate house was demolished and guards were driven into the boiler room.

The guards fought off the strikers' forces with tear gas and streams of water from high-pressure hoses as a large crowd of strike sympathizers looked on. For a few minutes the air was filled with missiles.

Mrs. Ella Fulkerson of 408 South Walnut street, who underwent an operation in the Jameson Memorial hospital, Tuesday, is getting along nicely.

SEE STATE FLYING BOON

Extensive W. P. A. Air Field Plans

Improvements Contemplated Would Give Spurt To Aviation In State

SURVEY SHOWS LEADERS APPROVE

By VICTOR J. JACOBS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—A boon to the aviation industry in Pennsylvania will inevitably result from extensive WPA air improvements planned throughout the state.

That was the consensus of opinion of the district's aviation leaders as revealed in a survey conducted by International News Service today.

Capt. Jim Morris, local flying figure, many of whose suggestions have been embodied in the program, is in Harrisburg at present mapping details of the plan which is to be carried out in cooperation with the state government.

Improvements Needed
An acute need for the proposed improvements was expressed by virtually all leaders polled. They stated the contemplated increase in the number of airports and adjustments to present facilities would:

- 1.—Multiply by many times flying, both private and transport, in Pennsylvania.
- 2.—Insure safety over the Keystone state's rough country to patrons of the air lanes.
- 3.—Serve as a bulwark to the nation's eastern region defenses in event of invasion.

"The improvements have been delayed too long; they should have been done a long time ago," Capt. C. P. McDermott, commander of the army reserve corps here, said in expressing complete approval of the plan. "I think Capt. Morris' suggestion of constructing landing and refueling stops along the main highways is very fine and it would undoubtedly help the industry because more people would use the planes if they knew there were more places to land in bad weather."

Need Emergency Fields
Maj. Hal Bazley, head of the county airport, vouched for the safety advantages of the program and added the emergency landing stops "could be converted into bases to handle planes in event of an invasion."

"There can't be too many of the emergency fields for flying," Helen Ritchey of McKeesport, the country's former original woman co-pilot, said in terming the plan "dandy." She was rather indifferent to more airports, however, explaining that the lines "couldn't go into them all" should their number be increased a considerable degree.

Somewhat the same sentiment was expressed by A. G. Becker, operator of Bettis Field. The proposed field at Oakmont, he believed, would be superfluous.

"We have been operating for 10 years and our hangars are only half full," Becker explained. "On that basis the county is already equipped to handle flying for five or ten more years."

C. A. Clarke, Central Airlines official, and F. R. Crawford, secretary of the Pennsylvania airlines, both with headquarters here, added their approval of the program as helping aviation to cope with the state's "hilly and mountainous stretches." They too were confident it would promote increasing flying.

Each month the finance department provides each councilman with a list of money spent and remaining in their appropriation. It is probable that council may ask that these accounts be totaled and sent to them and thus permitting them to know how accounts stand.

According to Earl F. Wimer, city controller, who is a member of the commission, the estimated appropriations for next year must be submitted December 2, and the budget ordinance cannot be passed before 20 days have expired.

Attorney Brown responded gracefully and gave a short sketch of the county's services to the county. "Campbell," he said, "is known to practically all citizens of the county. He will leave the office with the respect of all and the love of the many close friends he has made through the passing years."

County Treasurer William O. Pitts said that while he will not be an office holder much longer, he is still a citizen, and loyal to the good old Republican party. He asked his friends to call upon him any time they need help.

County Controller R. C. McCaslin said that when he checked his record in the cloakroom, his check given him was number 23. "I quit," he said that there had been considerable opposition to the office which he has held but not to him personally. He had received the hearty support of other officials of the county in this work.

Commissioner P. O. Elder had a date at another meeting and had to leave before he was called upon to speak. County Commissioner Elmer Conner filled the breach. He said that when the present board of county commissioners went into office they had no money and had to borrow money the first thing. During their term of office the county's bonded indebtedness has been reduced to $752,000 and there has been $488,000 paid in interest. In a jocular way Mr. Conner then attempted to predict what some of the retiring officials would do when they left office. January 1st, he predicted that Judge R. L. Hildebrand will resume the practice of law. County Treasurer William O. Pitts will make the sparks fly from his forge at Mr. Jackson's counting house. Elder will resume the timber business, Franklin R. Woods, will hang out his engineering shingle and he himself, would be behind the counter of his clothing store at Ellwood City, where he would be pleased to meet his many friends.

County Commissioner Franklin R. Woods told a funny story and thanked the other officials and employees for many courtesies while he has been in office. This closed the program so far as the speaking of music which included the following:

Solo, Katherine Wagner, accompanied by J. Bradford; duet, George Anthony and Harry Evans, accompanied by Thomas Jones. Tap dancing, Wilma Leonhardt; solo, Bertha Taylor, accompanied by Mrs. Sanford; duet, Betty Sisters, accompanied by J. Bradford. Song by assembly, Good-night.

Consider City Budget For Year

Heads Of City Hall Departments Start Compiling Figures

BUDGET MUST BE COMPLETED EARLIER

Directors of the various departments of the city government have begun to consider 1936 appropriations, but it may be some time before the forms, arranged for by the state commission on third class cities budgets are filled.

According to some of the councilmen they maintain a record of purchases on a requisition form but unless they have the cost of the purchases they have no way of determining how much money has been spent from their appropriations this year.

Each month the finance department provides each councilman with a list of money spent and remaining in their appropriation. It is probable that council may ask that these accounts be totaled and sent to them and thus permitting them to know how accounts stand.

OFFICIALS WHO ARE TO RETIRE GIVEN BANQUET

ied out each problem and rendered his decisions impartially, regardless of what station in life the litigants might occupy.

Judge Hildebrand was then called. He spoke of his pleasant relations with "Judge" Chambers during the past eight years, and joked about some incidents of the recent campaign. He voiced his appreciation of the many kindnesses shown him by county officials and employees while in office, and made special mention of the services of Lawrence county's veteran prothonotary, Ralph M. Campbell. He told how, during his more than fifty years of service Mr. Campbell has helped scores of young attorneys, and how his intimate knowledge of the court records, has made his services invaluable to all judges who have sat on the bench during the last half century.

Prothonotary Campbell was overwhelmed with emotion while Judge Hildebrand was recounting his services to the county and the many personal friendships he has made. Mr. Campbell tried to speak when he was called, but a big lump came up in his throat, and he merely said down his cheeks, as he merely said "I want to thank everybody here tonight, and as I cannot speak I will call on Attorney Orville Brown to speak for me."

Deaths of the Day

Funeral Of Mrs. Clark

Private funeral services were conducted on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Mary Wilder Clark, 94-year-old lifetime resident of New Castle.

The services, in charge of Rev. Philip C. Pearson, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. Norris White, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, were conducted in the home on the public square at 15 West Washington street, where Mrs. Clark had resided for more than a half century.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the residence. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Raymond Moran.
Raymond Moran, little six months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Moran, of New Castle, R. D. 7, passed away this morning at 7:30 o'clock at his home, following a short illness. He is survived by two sisters and six brothers.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the residence. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Samuel Mack
Funeral services for Samuel Mack, aged 84 years, who died in the Lawrence County home early Tuesday morning, will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Hopper, in Blainville, Pa. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Mack was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. Martha Henson Mack of New Castle, some time ago. His daughter is his only survivor.

Ruben Chapman Funeral
Friends gathered at the home of Edward C. Chapman, 201 East Second avenue, Wednesday afternoon, for funeral services in memory of his father, the late Ruben Chapman. The services, at 2:30 o'clock, were in charge of Rev. Dr. Norris A. White, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

There were many beautiful flowers. Pallbearers were nephews of the deceased. Interment was made in Castle View Burial park.

CHINESE FEAR NEW MOVE BY JAPANESE IN NORTH CHINA

in any event "Pro-Japanese North China" requires a different organization from anti-Japanese China."

This was interpreted as indicating the Japanese, whose troops are still massed along the Great Wall, will not see their aims in North China defeated without at least putting up vigorous objections.

With an atmosphere still tense, a high Chinese official said: "There is a report that Major Doihara, as a last resort, will employ the notorious pro-Japanese provocateurs, Shih Yu-Shan and Liu Kwei-Tang to lead the next autonomy attempt."

Col. Tanihshi expects Doihara back in Peiping in a few days. Meanwhile three thousand Japanese troops remain at Shanhaikwan."

Movement At Standstill
Tokyo, Nov. 21.—The movement for establishment of an autonomous federation of the five Northern Chinese provinces appeared definitely at a standstill today.

According to reports from many sources in North China, the whole scheme is in abeyance while Nanjing and Peiping negotiate regarding the next move in the crisis.

DEATH BY FIRE OR WATER
(International News Service)
BERLIN, Nov. 21.—A choice between drowning or being burned to death faced the crew of the German motor freighter Regulus when she ran on a reef off the German North Sea coast.

When she struck, the captain lit a fire to summon help from land. He was feeding the flames with petrol when the German knocked the gasoline can out of his hand.

The gasoline burst into flames and spread all over the deck, setting the whole ship alight.

But just as the sailors were about to cast themselves into the boiling sea, the lifeboat from Nordenfyer, Hanover, which had seen the leaping flames, came to their rescue—and saved them all.

in the numbers raids in this county. He entered a plea of guilty and posted bond, but later declared that he had made a mistake in entering a plea, and did not appear for sentence.

If he is returned to this county the only formality left will be that of sentencing him.

By EDWARD E. STEVENS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21.—Sam Baruso, 62, reputed major figure in the lottery rackets operating in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, late Wednesday lost his fight to escape return to New Castle on charges of conducting a lottery and setting up gambling devices, when Gov. Martin L. Davey signed extradition papers.

Davey granted the request of Lawrence county (Pa.) officials for extradition of Baruso despite the ardent plea made for Baruso by Attorney Nate Kauffman, of Youngstown, at an extradition hearing here late yesterday.

The Pennsylvania officials must pass one more barrier before they will be able to transport Baruso across the state line.

Baruso has challenged the right of Youngstown officials to arrest him and his plea for release will be heard November 25 before Justice of the Peace R. W. Raymond at Youngstown.

Kauffman, however, admitted to Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard of New Castle, during the extradition hearing, that Baruso will not contest his identity, and the justice court undoubtedly will uphold his arrest.

Fights Extradition
Kauffman's argument against extradition questioned the legal right of Ohio to extradite Baruso on the charges for which he is sought, claiming they refer to gambling and constitute a misdemeanor.

Charles Leasure, executive clerk in Davey's office, who conducted the hearing, pointed out, however, that it has been the custom in Ohio to extradite for misdemeanors as well as felonies.

Kauffman, seeking to convince Leasure that Baruso's participation in "numbers" rackets is not sufficient reason for his extradition, contended:

"It seems to have been the desire of American people to seek a means of making a few extra dollars as a result of the depression to turn to lotteries. Many people were without funds, many were destitute."

"I wish the government could run the number games so that the legal sources would gain what is being lost. It seems to be bad only because the money is going into the wrong pockets."

He inferred that officials at New Castle and at Youngstown have started campaigns against the rackets as a result of elections, suggesting:

SMITH'S
SUPER CLEANERS and FURRIERS

"The elections in Pennsylvania changed conditions just the same as they did in Ohio and some of the new officials sought to make some disposition of Baruso. I don't mean to cast any reflection on anyone—it's just a condition."

Replies To Charges
Mont L. Ailey, Lawrence county district attorney, who also attended the hearing, quickly replied to Kauffman's charges.

"We have had numerous complaints about these rackets getting into the schools and people are very much against them. If the governor should decide to let Baruso stay in Youngstown, he could keep right on operating in Pennsylvania from across the line and our hands would be tied. A lot of them are working out of Youngstown into New Castle right now," he asserted.

In his report to Davey on the hearing, Leasure discounted Kauffman's charges that the indictments against Baruso were not specific and did not claim offenses subject to extradition.

Also attending the hearing were Sheriff Ralph E. Elser and his chief deputy, W. A. Wingert, of Youngstown.

They explained Baruso is now at liberty at Youngstown on $15,000 bond.

damage done to the building which was covered by insurance.

Dog Discovers Fire
Reports from Miss Ruth Phillips, one of the members of the family residing upstairs in the Shaffer Block, reports that her little dog "Cookie" was the first to discover smoke when the building was on fire.

The dog ran to a crack under the door and started to raise a fuss and the family realizing that something was wrong, opened the door and found the other rooms of the house filled with smoke. At that moment Sammy Dieger, clerk in a nearby restaurant, noticed the smoke and turned in the alarm.

KEGARISE-DAVIDSON WEDDING PERFORMED

A pretty wedding, marked by simplicity, took place this morning at 11:30 o'clock in the Central Presbyterian church, when Miss Mabel L. Kegaris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kegaris of English avenue, became the bride of John C. Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Davidson of Franklin, Pa., and former residents of New Castle. Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor, officiated.

The bride was attractively gowned in a brown crepe ensemble, with matching turban of velvet and suede accessories and wore a shoulder bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. She had as her only attendant Miss Lillian Campbell, a close friend, who wore an aqua-blue crepe ensemble with black velvet accessories. Her shoulder corsage was identical to the bride's.

The young couple left on a few days wedding trip and will take up residence at Franklin, Pa., after January 1, where Mr. Davidson is employed with the Joy Manufacturing Company.

F. O. F. Club
Members of the F. O. F. club met at the home of Mrs. Theodore Guntt, Randolph street, Wednesday evening. Cards and music were pleasant diversions, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Charles Rogers and Mrs. Charles Brest, for holding top scores.

Thanksgiving colors were used effectively in the table and appointments, the hostess being assisted in serving a tasty lunch by Mrs. Ernest Anderson.

December 4 the club will assemble in the home of Mrs. Charles Brest, Dewey avenue.

THANKSGIVING PARTY FOR WHYLE-AWAY CLUB

Covers marked for sixteen guests at a local tavern Wednesday evening, the group being identified as the Whyle-Away Bridge club, and the occasion being in observance of the Thanksgiving season. An artistic bouquet of autumn flowers, adorned the center, and the setting was completed with tall tapers, in yellow and white tones, the predominating color theme.

After partaking of a most delicious chicken menu, a game of bridge occupied the remaining hours. Prizes went to Mrs. Joseph Campbell, Mrs. John Morgan, Alfred Klingensmith and William Jones.

During the short business period that ensued, plans were formulated for their annual Yuletide party to be held at the Elmer Fehl home on Ray street, the date to be announced. Their next regular gathering, however, will be an event of Tuesday, November 26, with Mrs. Jack Melvin of Sumner avenue, hostess.

BETH SHALOM FOLKS TO HEAR BOOK REVIEW

Next Sunday evening, November 24, Mrs. H. Kilvans and Mrs. E. Kaplan will be hostesses to Beth Shalom congregation in the Center on Boyles avenue.

At this time, Rabbi H. Leon Schwartz will review one of Shalom Ach's books, after which there will be a social period, with refreshments.

Executive Board
The executive board of the B. P. W. club will meet in the Y. W. C. A. at 7:45 p. m. Monday, November 25.

YULE PARTY PLANNED AT O. N. T. LUNCHEON

Mrs. Daisy Warren and Mrs. Eve Heldman of Struthers, O., were special guests at the luncheon party given for O. N. T. club members Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Perry Heiber on the Petersburg road. Chrysanthemums were used in a decorative fashion, gracing the table center and the rooms throughout. A chicken menu was served by the hostess at 12:30, with Mesdames Warren and Heldman assisting.

A towel shower was tendered Mrs. Heiber in remembrance of her birthday anniversary this month.

Plans were made for a special luncheon and theatre party, to honor Mrs. Emma Knox of Warren, O., who leaves soon for Florida. This is to take place on November 26. The next regular session in December is to be held in the home of Mrs. E. O. Reed of Mt. Jackson, and will be in the form of their annual Christmas celebration. Husbands will be guests, and committees in charge follow: Arrangements, Mrs. E. O. Reed, Mrs. Sara McCard and Agnes Davidson; entertainment, Mrs. Jennie McFate, Mrs. Adrian Schultz and Mrs. W. S. Caskey. The date is to be announced later.

LOCAL WOMEN SEW AT JAMESON HOSPITAL

A group of 30 women, including the Girls club and the Gleaners society of the Second U. P. church, assembled in the Solarium of the Jameson Memorial hospital Wednesday morning from 9 until 12 o'clock noon, and sewed on garments and articles to be used in the institution. Much was accomplished at this session.

Because of the Thanksgiving holidays approaching, a recess has been called for the weekly meetings until further announcement. The date of the next event of this nature will be given out later.

THEATRE PARTY IS AMERITA PLEASURE

As guests of Mrs. Rudolph Egizi and Mrs. Mario Frabotta Wednesday evening, the Amerita club enjoyed a theatre party and a lovely luncheon later, in the Frabotta home, on West Grant street. Decorations about the home were appropriate to the season, with a pretty bouquet of flowers for a centerpiece. Drawing for prizes was an added pleasure. Mrs. A. Nocera and Mrs. A. Perifano being fortunate winners of the club tokens and Mrs. Perifano and Mrs. N. Cusino the special trophies.

In three weeks, the club will have a meeting in the home of Mrs. Nicholas George, on East Lutton street.

Wednesday Quilting
Mrs. Joseph Heitzman received the Wednesday Quilting Club at her home all day yesterday and served dinner at noon, with covers arranged on the table for 10.

Mrs. Heitzman's mother, Mrs. Mary Lloyd, was a special guest.

The club prize was won by Mrs. David Drum.

It was planned to have a Christmas dinner on December 4 at a downtown restaurant.

Announcement
Dr. Ida M. Shannon, who has been out of the city for the past two months, has reopened her office at 108 N. Mill St., Apt. 401.

TRI-QUAD GIRLS ARE GUESTS WEDNESDAY

A local tavern was the place chosen for the meeting of the Tri-Quad Bridge club members Wednesday evening, with Alice Mitchell presiding as hostess. She had as a special guest Alice Mae Hoffman.

Cards featured, the prizes going to Miss Huffman and Mrs. C. M. Boher at conclusion of play. In bringing the evening to a close, a tempting lunch was served at tables nicely arranged. In two weeks Mrs. A. G. Reynolds will open her Euclid avenue home to members.

RECENT BRIDE IS HONORED AT CLUB

Complimentary to Mrs. Fred Fabian, nee Dorothy Burdett, whose marriage took place recently, a large wedding cake surrounded with a miniature bride and groom, centered the table Wednesday evening when refreshments were served. Cheerio club associates in the home of Mrs. Edward McKissick on Crawford avenue.

At the meeting previously, the group heard an interesting talk on a "Space Saver Room", in which Viola Neyman described a study and sewing room combined. Alice Johnson contributed a humorous reading, and in a drawing for door prize, Mrs. Fabian was the successful winner.

The club decided to feature meetings on seven major holidays throughout the coming year by exchanging gifts. For this purpose, "Cheerio sisters" were chosen last night, the element of surprise in exchanging presents in this manner being delightful.

For the next assembly on December 4, Mrs. Kenneth Owens, who has lately moved to 115 Homestead street, will be hostess.

DINNER EVENT FOR MRS. ANNA MURRAY

To celebrate the birthday of their president, Mrs. Anna Murray, S. A. S. club members held a tureen dinner Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Eleanor Skundor, on Brooklyn avenue.

The table was centered with a gaily decorated birthday cake and was trimmed in yellow and red tones. The places were marked with a candy corsage which made pretty as well as edible favors.

In the evening, the guests, among whom were Mrs. Elizabeth Perry and Mrs. Leona Smith, the latter of Akron, played 500 at which the prize fell to Mrs. Murray. The drawing award was won by Mrs. Frances Sheridan, who also captured a special trophy.

Later, in answering a telegram summons to the door, Mrs. Murray was surprised to read that she was to look about the house for gifts. She received a lovely collection.

The next regular meeting will take place on December 4, at the home of Mrs. Sue Flynn, Greenwood avenue.

MRS. SAMUELS HOSTESS TO 1931 GLENDALE

Mrs. Robert Adams was a guest at the evening gathering of the 1931 Glendale club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Roy Samuels on Fairmount avenue.

At the usual game of bridge, the pretty favors were captured by Mrs. Clyde Nicholson and Mrs. Kenneth Voorhees. Afterwards, when an attractively appointed luncheon was served, the hostess had the assistance of Mrs. Nicholson.

In a fortnight, the next meeting, which will probably also be in the evening, will be at the Voorhees home on Moody avenue.

Mrs. Alfred Mann, Hostess
Girls of the Canter Bridge Club were pleasantly received in the home of Mrs. Alfred Mann of Castlewood Wednesday evening for a session of cards. They had as their special guest Gladys Houk, sister of the hostess.

Bridge occupied attention during the early hours, with novel prizes falling to Mary Whalen and Elma Houk for honor scores. The visitor's gift was presented to Gladys Houk at this time. The serving of a delicious repast concluded activities and the hostess was assisted by several of the club members.

Names were drawn for the exchange of gifts at their yuletide party, to take place on Wednesday, Dec. 11, in the home of Mrs. Ray Nolte, Pine street.

Reunited Ladies League
Members of the Reunited Ladies League, will be entertained on Friday, November 29, instead of the 27th as previously announced, in the home of Mrs. George Wyman on Maryland avenue.

CONSERVATION GROUP HEARS FINE REPORTS

Interesting and informative reports of state and national work being done in the Federation of Women's clubs were heard at the meeting of the Conservation department of the Woman's club of New Castle Wednesday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. R. S. Tannehill, president, on Englewood avenue.

Mrs. Tannehill told of the state convention which was held in Erie earlier in the fall, and also of the General Federation conference in Detroit, both of which she attended. As the guest speaker, Mrs. S. D. Pearson, state chairman of the Conservation department, outlined aims and activities of her division, and suggested many worthwhile projects which the state desires to accomplish. Owing to the lack of time, a paper prepared by Mrs. Archibald H. Davis, Jr., was deferred until another meeting.

Invited to the dining room for refreshments, the group was served dainty tidbits from the large table covered with an unusually attractive Chinese linen hand embroidered cover. The centerpiece was formed of luscious fruit, in many colors, and nuts. In the absence of Mrs. F. P. Urey, department chairman, Mrs. W. A. Pond, poured, having also officiated as vice president at the meeting preceding. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Andrew Dodds, Mrs. Ray Horchler and Mrs. George Ferver.

CONTINENTAL CLUB AT EAST BROOK HOME

Wednesday evening, the Continental club, motored to the home of Mrs. Mae McConahy at East Brook, where they were entertained informally at bridge, three tables being in play. Prizes were received by Myrna Smith and Jeanne Bloomer at conclusion of the contest.

Later, an appetizing collation was served. The small tables were attractively re-arranged, and appointed in seasonal tones for this feature. In serving, the hostess had as aides, her sister, Mrs. Thomas Breneman and Mrs. Dorothy Ligo. Special guests in attendance, included Marjorie Powell, Mrs. Agnes Stevenson, Mrs. Garlo Kennedy, Edna Waddington and Mrs. Dorothy Ligo.

Plans were formulated for their annual Christmas party, to take place on November 11, at the home of Miss Rae Otto, West Washington street. Gifts will be exchanged on this date.

J. F. F. CLUB GUESTS OF MISS MCGOWN

Miss Ellen McGowan was a charming hostess Wednesday evening, to the J. F. F. club members, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Emmett Dagon, East Washington street. Another sister, Miss Margaret McGowan, was a special guest of the occasion, and she also assisted in serving a dainty menu of refreshments at the close of the evening's program.

In the card contest that filled in the earlier hours, Mary Sullivan and Mrs. Emmett Dagon were the winners of lovely trophies. Miss Eleanor Rohrer was honored with a shower of hankies, in remembrance of her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Harold McCartney invited the club girls to her home at Mt. Jackson on Tuesday, November 26 for an informal social time, while the date of their next regular meeting, will be announced later.

Progressive Party

An "auto-progressive" party proved an amusing and enjoyable way for the C. K. McGeorge Bible class members of the Second U. P. church to spend Tuesday evening.

They had their first course, oyster stew, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes, Neshannock avenue. Three "automobile" games and a business meeting, presided over by Frank Clouvis, president, followed.

Then the guests went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Williams, Raymond street, where three more games were played, and a second course of the lunch was indulged in. The wind-up, with cake and coffee, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Meade Thompson, Crawford avenue.

It was everyone agreed, the best party of the winter season for the class.

Yucatan Club Change.
Yucatan club associates will be entertained Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Butler on North Jefferson street, with Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper presiding as hosts, instead of at The Castleton as previously planned.

Woodrow Class
Miss Jane Pattison and Mrs. Harvey Brenner will be associated in entertaining the Edith Woodrow class, of the First Baptist church, next Monday evening, November 25, at 8 o'clock, in the home of the former, 208 West Grant street.

Rehearsal Tonight

This evening, at 7:30 in Highland U. P. church, there will be an important rehearsal in the classroom of the Baldwin Ladies chorus.

President, Mrs. E. S. Bartlett and Mrs. H. C. Campbell, who were in charge of the affair were assisted by appointed committees.

When a social period of an informal nature was in progress after the serving of the delicious menu, the guest of honor was presented with a beautiful gift in behalf of the organization, as a remembrance, to take with her "it held an added tinge of sentiment" because of the fact one of the Guild women made it.

The next meeting, will occur on Thursday instead of Wednesday, the regular day, December 19, with Mrs. John Norris, of Walmo, hostess. It will take the form of a Yule party, and gifts will be exchanged.

A. N. R. Club
An all-day quilting interested A. N. R. Club associates Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Thomas Lucas on Huron avenue. At noon a sumptuous tureen dinner was served, with covers for 10, including one visitor, Mrs. Boston. The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughter, Mrs. Charles Morgan.

Wednesday of next week there will be another gathering in the home of Mrs. Robert Keeling on East Washington street.

LES BRIDGEURS CLUB HAS INFORMAL PARTY

Mrs. A. H. Klingensmith was a pleasing hostess Wednesday evening to members of the Les Bridgeurs club at her home on Delaware avenue, which too, honored one of their number, Mrs. Catherine VanDyke, it being her birthday anniversary. Special guests who participated included Kathryn Hodge, Emma Evans, Mrs. Forrest Morgan, Mrs. Ralph Ferree and Mrs. W. S. Wolf, the latter of whom captured the visitor's prize.

Bridge was the chosen diversion, with novel trophies being carried off by Mrs. Harold Hannon and Mrs. John Darby at the close of play. In serving lunch, the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Charles Whalen. At this time, a birthday cake, surrounded with tiny candies, was presented to Mrs. VanDyke.

On Thursday, December 5, Mrs. Harold Hannon of Highland avenue will receive the club members.

Members of the T. O. T. club will be entertained by Miss Goldie Householder, in a local tea room. The meeting was postponed from last night to this evening.

WALMO KENSINGTON
LUNCHEON GUESTS

A 1 o'clock luncheon served in the home of Mrs. Thomas Nesbitt, of Walmo Wednesday afternoon, was enjoyed by members of the Walmo Kensington, when they assembled for an informal social time. A tumular appointments prevailed throughout, and a dainty color theme of crystal and orchid, added further to the attractive setting. Flowers graced the center. In serving, the hostess was assisted by Mrs. John Norris.

The next meeting, will occur on Thursday instead of Wednesday, the regular day, December 19, with Mrs. John Norris, of Walmo, hostess. It will take the form of a Yule party, and gifts will be exchanged.

MRS. VICKERY IS HONORED BY GUILD

Mrs. Louise Vickery, who will leave within a short time for Altoona with her daughter, Mrs. Harriet Porter, to reside, was honored at a lovely party Wednesday, given by the members of the Ladies' Guild of the First Methodist church. The occasion was in the form of a 1 o'clock luncheon and took place in the church dining room. Places were arranged for thirty guests or more, at long tables prettily appointed in keeping with the season.

When a social period of an informal nature was in progress after the serving of the delicious menu, the guest of honor was presented with a beautiful gift in behalf of the organization, as a remembrance, to take with her "it held an added tinge of sentiment" because of the fact one of the Guild women made it.

President, Mrs. E. S. Bartlett and Mrs. H. C. Campbell, who were in charge of the affair were assisted by appointed committees.

Rehearsal Tonight

This evening, at 7:30 in Highland U. P. church, there will be an important rehearsal in the classroom of the Baldwin Ladies chorus.

'WARE "COMMON SENSE"

TRUE words were spoken by President Isaiah Bowman of Johns Hopkins University in an address before the alumni of New Jersey and New York when he advocated a healthy distrust of that famed (by the downright of mind) element of common sense which forbids excursions into the unknown by ranging minds.

If the extolled characteristic of common sense had ruled, he noted, the theory of a flat world would have won lasting fame, locomotives would have been accepted as unable to pull more than their own weight uphill, and that disease is spread by air would still be axiomatic.

A college education, said Dr. Bowman, should by all means instill common sense into students, but it should further teach that "the greatest single fact about humanity is its willingness to advance across the border of experience." The generation that refused belief in a round world was eminently ruled by common sense, yet today it is pathetically ridiculous. So also today many of our pet beliefs may easily, in time, become as outmoded. Persons not too young may recall that the extreme of impossibility was condensed in the crowning absurdity, "you might as well try to fly through the air." "Darius Green and his Flying Machine" made two generations, at least, rock with laughter.

Experience, valuable as it is for common life, certainly is not all of wisdom. A world ruled by experience would be a stationary world. Common sense is a dull possession. The world needs uncommon sense, the reaching out for the unknown, the apparently unattainable. After all, the Twentieth Century is sixty-five years short of completion. Better wait awhile before applying that vaunted common sense to everything.

WINTER DRIVING

When Old Man Winter moves in for a lengthy stay throughout the country, with icy fingers he will write out death certificates for many motorists. For ice is always a hazard for the motorist.

Ice on the windshield blurs the vision.
Ice on the running board causes sprained ankles and broken hips.
Ice leading to the garage causes many bad falls.
Ice and snow on the streets mean disastrous skids.
Ice and snow on the hills invite the little folks to slide.
And along with ice comes cold, bitter cold.
Cold that causes motorists to start their cars in closed garages or drive with windows closed tight—an invitation to that unseen killer, "carbon monoxide."

Cold that numbs the fingers, too, and the feet, and makes it hard to drive safely and comfortably.

Yes, winter certainly puts a severe test on every phase of driving.

PADEREWSKI SEVENTY-FIVE

At the request of Ignace Jan Paderewski, his native land, Poland, did not observe the seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of the great artist and statesman. His letter to the committee, headed by President Moseicki as chairman, is thought-provoking.

While moved by the remembrance, Paderewski explained that he did not quite understand it. "Long life is not a merit, but an ordination of Providence," he said. "Whatever I have done in the service of my motherland, I did not expect, nor do I wish reward."

As an artist and as a statesman, the one Pole among all others most responsible for the assembling of the broken fragments of a nation gathered together from Austria, Russia and Germany, and the establishment of a strong, united country, Paderewski has achieved immortality.

Few men in world history have played difficult roles so well and have been animated so little by considerations of self-aggrandizement. Supreme as an artist, he has also been brilliantly successful as a diplomat whose motives have been those of unalloyed patriotism.

NEWSWORTHINESS

Who are the ten most "newsworthy" people in the world, to American readers?

A midwestern school of journalism gives this answer:
Benito Mussolini comes first. Then in order of importance are President Roosevelt, Haile Selassie, Adolf Hitler, Premier Laval of France, Anthony Eden of England, Pompo Aloisi of Italy, Pope Pius Joe Louis and Herbert Hoover.

The young Detroiters are certainly getting into fast company.

The list doesn't prove anything. It merely shows what a group of young journalism students thinks about it. Their opinion is based on the amount of news American papers print about these celebrities and what the newspapers print is based on what the editors think the public wants to read about.

The editors might be wrong. But they would hardly be very far wrong because their success depends on understanding their public, and their training makes them pretty good psychologists.

What the public "ought" to be interested in is something else again. Responsible editors try nearly everything on their readers, and usually give the latter as much serious, discriminating and "really important" news as they dare give a very mixed audience. They can't keep their average choice of subjects and treatment very much above the average reader.

You can pick out the men who aren't bossed by their wives. They need a shave.

Economic security wouldn't make people behave. Adam had it, and look what he did.

But if statesmen aren't superior, how can they think up a law that mere judges can't understand.

Explorer Stefansson declares that it's possible to live exclusively on meat. If you have enough money.

Sanctions may not impede Mussolini but they should make the Italian people realize that they are in a war.

You can tell people who are quality in public and trash in private. Just compare their back yard with the front.

Death From the Air.
One Stern Father Goes.
Barring the Inventor.
Beauty for Men.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

WARFARE in Ethiopia consists largely in surprising the enemy in some narrow gorge or valley. Ethiopians have thus surprised Italians on a small scale.

Now the Italians have shown that the thing can be done from the air by killing 2,000 Ethiopian warriors, of whom 20,000 were amassed in the Mele Mezo Valley, south of Makale. Ethiopians withstood, with fine courage, the attack with machine guns, incendiary and explosive bombs.

THE SITUATION of the Ethiopian fighters called for courage, trapped in a narrow valley with twenty Italian "death's head" planes roaring back and forth only 100 feet above their heads pouring down machine-gun bullets and bombs, as Mussolini's son-in-law, Ciano, described it.

Mussolini's son, Vittorio and Bruno, piloted two other "death's head" planes above the valley, soon "turned into a smoke-filled, flaming shambles, choked with Ethiopian dead."

Modern war is serious, especially for those on the ground.

IN COUNT CIANO's report he says:

"The enemy (Ethiopians) used dum-dum bullets, as was proved by Sergeant Biraghi's fearful wound."

International law forbids dum-dum bullets, but considering airplane odds you hardly wonder at the Ethiopians using them.

A MURDER trial at Wise, Virginia, would puzzle free modern youth. Edith Maxwell went out with a friend. He had what he wanted in the way of refreshments.

"I don't drink," said she, "so I ordered a bag of potato chips and a bottle of ginger ale."—mild enough.

The World At A Glance

Business And Roosevelt.
Inflationists May Cause Shift.
May Balance Budget Yet.

Central Press
New York Bureau

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The 1936 presidential campaign may be somewhat entirely different than the old line politicians had intended. The lineup may not be at all as at present indicated.

The conservatives, as much as they hate the New Deal, may run to President Roosevelt for protection.

Why? The Townsends and the Coughlins have joined forces, it is apparent. And they have money plans—inflationary schemes, the financial world terms them, schemes that would wipe out all property (in their opinion).

They could raise the masses, by emotional appeals, until they could sweep everything before them.

President Roosevelt may be able to appease the people with social changes (the reasoning may be); he may be able to preserve the stability of the business world.

WHY NOT A REPUBLICAN
"But why don't business go to a Republican to stem the inflationary tide?" the average reader may ask.

Big business would like to, the worst in the world.

But once the people demand the inflationary schemes, no Republican on a platform of "a balanced budget" could stem to tide. It would take a man with "legitimate" spending plans—such as the New Deal has—to appeal to the people, or, rather, to appease them.

BUDGET
"A balanced budget" is purely a businessman's cry, politicians are beginning to believe.

Senator William E. Borah struck the nail on the head when he said the west did not care whether the budget was balanced or not.

Besides, theoretically at least, President Roosevelt will show a balanced budget prior to the election.

And how much will that satisfy the country? Not very much. Each state, each community, each group will be calling more than ever for appropriations. The president who vetoes appropriations will be far more unpopular than the president who doesn't.

No people ever will know that it can't eat its cake and have it, too.

There is a tremendous hue and cry against President Roosevelt for borrowing large sums for relief and farm bounties, etc. But suppose he would raise the money by taxation—as the government could—and thus balance the budget? He would defeat himself for re-election—and that is not a course he will take prior to the election.

Incidentally, how can either side abandon relief? To permit people to starve would be not only inhumane but would be a sure road to revolution.

VERY EAGER
There seems to be no question that Herbert Hoover is eager to obtain the Republican nomination. Since his "retirement" he has traveled up and down the country more than any other possibility, and in each state he has conferred with men who control delegates.

Evidently, only two possibilities have failed, in turn, to confer with Mr. Hoover. One is Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, the "new Coolidge," and the other is Senator Borah. Governor Landon believes he has no need for Mr. Hoover's support. Senator Borah announced he would do everything possible to make Mr. Hoover's retirement permanent.

Should Mr. Hoover find that he had no chance in the convention, his support probably would go to Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher—but not until the last minute.

IN MEANTIME
The Hoover speech in New York, attacking money "isms," did not go well with the various "easy money" groups. It, in fact, made them more determined.

In the meantime, therefore, business may come to depend entirely on President Roosevelt as the Horatio at the bridge against the hordes of inflationists. Business may not desire to change generals in such a crisis.

Also, in the end, the people are expected to thank the man or the group who saved them from the terrors of inflation, which always in the beginning seems an easy road out.

DEATH CHANGES
Sudden death of some notable often brings about embarrassing situations on newspapers, magazines and other periodicals as was the case when Senator Huey Long was assassinated.

"Judge," the humorous magazine, had announced its issue for October as the "Every-Man-a-King" number, a take-off on Long's "Share-the-Wealth" program. This number was almost finished when the tragic news of Long's death was received.

Another magazine, "Life," was on the press and contained many references uncomplimentary to Long. It mentioned a "Public Nuisance" poll was led by the Louisiana senator.

A newspaper in Spokane, Wash., had a cartoon of Senator Long with a line, "Nothing ever seems to happen to Huey Long" under it, which happened to get on the front page right along with the story about Long's assassination.

These things represent just one type of the many pitfalls all editors find scattered along their pathway.

HER EXTRAVAGANCE
I knew her wants were many and I knew her means were small.

I knew she had to pinch and scrape to get along at all.

So passing by this morning it seemed a curious thing

To find her in the garden planting tulips for the spring.

Now tulips aren't expensive, but beyond the slightest doubt

They are little bits of beauty one could really live without.

And the shawl was thin upon her and her bonnet worn and frayed.

And those tulips meant a saving which I thought she could have made.

She guessed what I was thinking for she seemed to hang her head;

And she all have some extravagance, she said.

"Some people squander money on their appetite and some Indulge themselves in pleasures from which only sorrows come.

"I shall wear my shawl this winter and I'll make my bonnet do.

If I suffer for my folly I can smile and brave it through.

We all have had notions un-which through life we cling

And my weakness is for tulips red and yellow, in the spring."

Notable Nativities—Mary Johnston, b. 1870, Virginia novelist.—To Have and To Hold, etc.—William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, b. 1869, former governor of Oklahoma.

Abram Garfield, b. 1872, Cleveland architect, son of the 20th President. . . . Herbert Lee Pratt, b. 1871, oil financier. . . .

Today's Yesterdays, Nov. 21, 1694.—Francis Marie Arouet was born in Paris. Under the name of Voltaire he became the most celebrated dramatist, historian, novelist and poet of his time, and a forthright critic of kings. Yet kings begged him to be their guest and paid him to visit them!

Nov. 21, 1718—Edward "Blackbeard" Teach, America's most notable pirate, died with his boots on. A British officer, Lieut. Robert Maynard, cut him to ribbons in a duel at Blackbeard's lair in Ocracoke Inlet, North Carolina, in order to get a $500 reward posted by the government.

Left to mourn Blackbeard were the survivors including 14 wives, the youngest 16, and the British royal governor. Eden, who shared profits of the pirate's expeditions.

Nov. 21, 1779—Sir Thomas Gresham died at 60, having laid the foundations of Britain's world position as a financial power, by preaching and obtaining acceptance of the economic principle known ever since as "Gresham's law," i. e., that when good money and bad money circulate together the bad money will drive out the good. But he did not originate it. The same "law" had been laid down for Charles V. of France by Nicholas Oresme, more than a century before.

Nov. 21, 1783—Pilate re Zogier and Marquis d'Arlandes, Frenchman, arose at Paris in a "fire" balloon (the envelope being filled with smoke of moist straw and wood burning in the gondola) for the first sustained flight of man. They went up 300 feet, remained aloft 20 minutes. They had stayed up longer except that d'Arlandes became so excited he forgot to keep the braziers fired.

The next meeting will be on January 16.

WINDOW DISPLAYS

To Nancy Emanuel and Jean La Marco, goes the credit for the interesting book display in Harry Brown's store window on North Cedar street.

The scene depicts the story of the "Piper of Hamelin" and is very novel and interesting. This is just one of the projects of the Mahoningtown school children, during the observation of National Book Week.

Young People To Gather On Friday

An attendance of about 80 is expected for Friday evening when the young people of the Christian, Presbyterian and Methodist churches of the seventh ward meet together for a party in the Methodist church. The affair promises to be of unusual interest.

BID-A-BIT CLUB

On Tuesday evening, Miss Mae Turk was hostess to members of the Bid-A-Bit club at her home on North Liberty street.

Two tables of bridge were in play throughout the evening. Prizes were awarded to Henrietta Emerick and Mrs. Richard Solomon as scores were tallied at the end of play.

At a later hour a dainty repast was served by the hostess aided by her mother, Mrs. S. F. Turk and Mrs. Richard Solomon.

Plans were made for a Christmas party and names were drawn for the exchange of gifts.

The next regular meeting will be on December 3 at the home of Neurissa Thompson on 8th street.

ST. MARGARET'S

Joseph Duffley, Joseph Hink, Eugene R. Scanlon and John Sullivan, Jr., will be in charge of the card party to be held in the Lyceum hall, corner of Clayton and Second streets, this evening. Bridge and five hundred will be played. Games will get under way at 8:30.

Game Board Pays Taxes On Lands

HARRISBURG.—The board of game commissioners has paid to counties and townships in the state in lieu of taxes during the past year $23,211.35 fixed charges on state game lands. State property is not taxable, but the law provides that in lieu of taxes the counties and townships shall be reimbursed at the rate of two cents per acre for roads, two cents for schools in the township in which the lands are located, and one cent for county purposes.

The county with the largest area of game lands and the one which received the largest amount of fixed

WIDOW OF TEACHER IS AWARDED $5000

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Eleanor MacDougall Taylor, widow of J. Edward Taylor, Rochester high school teacher and athletic coach, was awarded $5,000 from the Beaver Valley Traction company today by David B. Roberts of Pittsburgh, referee of the workmen's compensation board.

Taylor, guard at the Greystone Gardens pool, was killed last summer when he dived from the roof of a bathhouse and struck the concrete wall of the pool. Roberts held that Taylor was an employee and had been hired to guard the pool because of a robbery.

Here's New Trick Worked On Bank

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 21.—One of the easiest ways to make $10 in this era of depression was demonstrated in a nearby town today by an unknown woman, and a bank was the loser by her trick. She proffered a $10 bill at a bank window, asking for the amount in quarters and was given a package of 40 25-cent pieces in it.

She came back later and said it was half-dollars, not quarters, that her husband wanted. She handed back the cylindrical package and got one with 20 half-dollars in it. Soon after the package she returned was opened and it contained 40 shiny new iron washers.

1927 BRIDGE CLUB HAS TUREN DINNER

The home of Mrs. Chester Minick, Temple avenue, was the scene of a pleasant party Wednesday evening when she entertained as guests her associates of the 1927 Bridge Club. The occasion was featured with a tureen dinner, served at seven o'clock at a table nicely arranged in seasonal suggestions. Mrs. Maurice Sadler assisted.

Afterwards time was taken up with contract bridge, the honor score trophy going to Mrs. Niema Eakin. Mrs. John Barnes was a special guest of the occasion. Their next regular meeting falls on Wednesday, Dec. 4, when Mrs. Maurice Sadler will receive the club at her Laurel boulevard home.

T. N. C. Girls

Featuring the meeting of the T. N. C. girls, of Bethany Lutheran church Monday evening, was a shower of dainty handkerchiefs for Ethel Shiffer in honor of her birthday.

Other diversions included the making of plans for a Christmas party which will be held the first Monday in December, at the home of Dorothy Thompson, on Marshall avenue. The meeting was well attended, all members being present and after the business session, light refreshments were served.

Friendship Club

Mrs. Carm Sacco and Mrs. Mary Antonelli shared in the pleasures provided by Mrs. Louis De Caprio of Fairmont avenue Wednesday evening for the entertainment of the Friendship Club.

Refreshments were a concluding feature, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. E. B. Casaccia. Mrs. Michael Cassella of South Mill street invited the group to her South Mill street home on December 4.

TROOP NO. 15

A formal meeting of troop No. 15 was conducted by the Girl Scouts of St. Joseph's school in the regular meeting room, St. Joseph's hall, at 4 p. m. Monday. Patrol corners were formed and dues were collected. A circle was formed and Mrs. Stone, a visitor, taught the girls a new song, "Soldier, Soldier, Will You Carry Me?" Then the older girls went with Miss Popp and the first class girls went with Miss Armstrong for personal measuring and the tenderfoot girls went with Miss Metz. After regular routine a game was played called "Going to Jerusalem." The meeting was closed with taps and Court of Honor.

Scribe, Martha (Mart) Davis.

POKANOKET TROOP

Troop No. 13 met in the Second United Presbyterian church at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. The girls danced the Virginia reel to begin the meeting, then, after a few songs, went to patrol corners where four new scouts were taken into the troop.

A contest, in which points can be won for attendance, promptness of dues and winning of games, was started.

The second class group started the hostess badge test. The meeting closed with taps, "The Golden Sun" and court of honor.

Consolidated Gas Battles Holding Company Law

Second Major Utility Refuses To Register With S. E. C.

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Consolidated Gas Co. of New York today became the second major utility to announce that it would not register with the S.E.C. on December 1 and that it would fight the holding company law in the courts.

This was disclosed by a subsidiary, New York and Queens Electric Light & Power Co., in an amendment filed with the commission in Washington covering the company's $25,000,000 issue of 3½ per cent refunding bonds.

The Consolidated Gas move follows the action of the U. G. I. system, the first to announce that it would not register and to file injunction proceedings.

The ruling of Federal Judge Coleman in Baltimore two weeks ago, branding the holding company law unconstitutional, was cited. With regard to itself, New York and Queens stated that it was not a holding company and could not forecast what effect, if any, the law would have on it or its business.

The other Consolidated Gas companies listed were Amsterdam Gas Co., Central Union Gas Co., New York Edison Co. and Brooklyn Edison Co.

Impromptu Line Caused Big Laugh

Rogers Forgot Line In Film, But The One He Put In Caused Bigger Hit

MEMORIAL FUND IS NEARING END

In Will Rogers' first talking picture, "They Had to See Paris," Will forgot a line in answer to a speech from Marguerite Churchill. As quick as a flash, Will shot back: "I'll answer that as soon as I think of something to say!"

The director kept the line in and it got one of the biggest laughs in the picture.

Only one more week remains for those who wish to subscribe to the national fund which is being raised to erect fitting memorials to the memory of the great humorist.

Those who wish to give may send their contribution to Chairman Fred L. Rentz, at the office of The News Company, with the coupon below:

Sunday visitors at the Hiram Hedglin, Sr. home were: Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hedglin and family, Brent; Mr. and Mrs. John Connors and son, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edglin and family and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Croft and daughter Yvonne, of Mine No. 5, and Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly, of Leesburg.

PLAN TO BEAUTIFY PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 21.—With the planting of two ceremonial trees, the Montgomery County Dogwood Association began a campaign to beautify highways in this area. The trees were planted at the Penn Square school, East Norristown township.

More than 400 trees have been distributed to schools and purchase of several hundred additional is planned by the association.

SENSITIVE TO LIGHT

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—Persons suffering from goiter should not drive automobiles at night, according to Dr. Charles Sheard, of the Mayo Foundation, who says they are twice as sensitive to headlight glare as normal persons.

Says Democracy Is Greatest Hope

Pennsylvania State College Head Addresses University Delegates At Capital

DR. RALPH DORN HETZEL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Democracy found a staunch advocate in Dr. Ralph Dorn Hetzel, president of the Pennsylvania State college, who told the members of the National Association of State Universities assembled here for their 40th annual meeting that democracy in the last few years has weathered "a trial by fire" and has emerged as "the most promising vehicle for the advancement of modern civilization." The association is meeting today and tomorrow in the Mayflower hotel.

Delivering the annual presidential address of the association, Dr. Hetzel told his colleagues from many states that he could see no serious threat to democracy, that democracy, though subjected to extreme strain and long and debilitating counter-action, has come through unbroken and without serious injury.

Commenting on the status of higher education, the Penn State education, and particularly of public education, have improved materially during the past two years. This statement he qualified by saying that education has emerged from the conflict in a cloud of criticism, but below the surface of this criticism we nevertheless find faith in the potency of education universally acknowledged.

Today

Returning home at midnight, she found her father, Trigg Maxwell, who thought girls should be at home not later than nine, waiting up with a club and butcher knife.

THE FATHER, who according to an eleven-year-old sister, was drunk proceeded to beat his "wayward" daughter. The little sister heard her father say he would break the older sister's neck, heard the older sister say:

"Don't you cut me with that butcher knife."

The daughter hit the father's head with the sharp heel of one of her shoes and he died, which appears to have been the best thing that he could do—he had told his younger child: "I'm going to run your mammy out of the house tomorrow," this, for criticizing his drinking.

There are queer things in those "simple annals of the poor."

ENGLAND really has free speech. On your soap box, in Hyde Park, you may say what you please, if you do not advocate crime.

But England does not like free speech from another country, through the ether. The British Broadcasting Company will not let Marconi talk from Rome to Englishmen over the radio. He might convince them that it is preposterous to try to starve Italy for doing in Ethiopia what England has done in many places.

The ruling seems hard on Marconi, considering that he is INVENTED radio. Without him, there would be no "British Broadcasting Company."

NEW YORK CITY'S first "beauty parlor for men" starts the public needlessly. Reclus Westernmark and other writers show that men were the original beauty experts and "professional beauties" of the human race.

In very early days women did the hard work, ground the grain, carried the loads, content to be rugged and ugly. The men wore their hair long, dressed fastidiously, wore cloaks made of brilliant bird feathers, painted their faces.

ANNOUNCEMENT made in Paris by Philippe de Rothschild, member of the famous banking family, that he will refuse to send a French Olympic team to Germany's Olympic games "because of Jewish religion" may be taken as a matter of course.

The Rothschilds, through all the years of prosperity, have shown themselves loyal to their own people.

There are reasons apart from "religious" reasons why American athletes that are really "sportsmen" should refuse to attend any Olympic games held in Germany.

Treatment of Jews by the German government is more than any religious treatment and racial hatred; it is miserable cowardice, for it is persecution on a one hundred to one basis.

If there is value in athletics, it consists in inculcating courage, sportsmanship and decency. For Americans to attend Olympic games in Germany would be to discard all of these.

Would You Pay 25c To Feel Ten Years Younger?

We Are Introducing Indo-Vin For Two Days ONLY at 25c

Everyone who is discouraged about the way they feel can have an introductory bottle of Indo-Vin to try for 25 CENTS. Simply read the offer below. Do this in your own interest.

This scientific medicine has helped 85 (or 90) percent of those who have taken it, so we offer a trial bottle at 25c because we believe the people who are benefited will keep on using it. The regular full-size price of this medicine is $1.25.

By its remarkable action on the liver, this medicine often makes one feel "TEN YEARS YOUNGER." Whether it will help you as it has thousands of others—whether it will end your suffering in a day or a week—remains to be seen. But in light of what it has done for others, it is surely a mistake not to try it for 25c, only a fraction of its worth. This offer is good Friday and Saturday ONLY.

WHAT IT WILL DO!

Indo-Vin will cleanse your bowels (gradually not drastic or severe) as they were NEVER CLEANSSED BEFORE. It will bring out gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose) which may have been in your system a long time, causing you months of misery.

It helps make the digestive organs sweet and clean, and will give you the greatest appetite you EVER HAD.

By its GREAT action on the liver, bowels, and stomach, it often clears up skin eruptions (caused by impurities in the organs) and overcomes sallow, "muddy" complexion.

So, if you are rundown, headachy, sick and bilious, then at least give Indo-Vin a trial. Do this in fairness to yourself. To get your first bottle for 25c (Friday and Saturday ONLY) bring coupon to our store.

Each Bottle Has These Ingredients:

CINCHONINE: stimulates and tones the stomach

PEPSIN: digests proteins; works with food

SENNA, ALON: natural laxative; gentle but thorough

IRON AND CITRATE: aids blood, builds red corpuscles

SUX VOMICA: bile of tonic; for vigor, energy

BILE SALTS: stimulates liver bile, necessary to health

Indo-Vin is taken after meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, helping to throw off poisons that foster stomach troubles and permitting the liver and bowels to function more properly. It often acts in 10 minutes to stop gas and pains, sourness and bloating. It helps to eliminate the old bile from your liver and increases fresh bile flow, so necessary to health. Thus it relieves sick headache, biliousness, dizziness and lazy, drowsy feeling.

Say Kunselman Admitted Slaying

Five Testify In Washington
That He Told Them He Shot Girl

SAID GIRL REFUSED TO FLEE WITH HIM

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 21.—In the stories of five of his boyhood friends, Ray Kunselman, 35, an oil rigger, today stood branded as the slayer of his pretty sweetheart, Dorothy Virginia Horne, 19, for which the commonwealth demands that he be sentenced to the electric chair.

Kunselman's five friends all testified in Washington county court he had admitted to them the girl was fatally shot in a fight because she refused to flee with him. Kunselman believing that he had killed Walter Jacobs, a beer parlor proprietor, in a holdup, in his panic sought to flee town, the five testified.

When his sweetheart refused to accompany him as they drove away in his car, he fired a shot into the air, hoping to frighten her, the friends said he had told them. When she still refused, he stopped the car near an elderberry patch and soon they were fighting, according to the testimony. It was during the fight, the witness testified they had learned from Kunselman, the second and fatal shot was fired.

Five Witnesses
The witnesses were Ernest Sickles, John Platt, John Hopkins, Val Tucker and Weldon Ewart, all about 35.

District Attorney Warren S. Burdick said they had been subpoenaed at the last minute and were impressed with the threat that if they did not testify they might be charged with harboring a criminal.

As the revolver was discharged a second time, the witnesses related, the girl groaned and sank against the door of the car which was flung open. She fell to the ground and lay still. Kunselman got out of the car, they said he had told them, and felt her pulse.

Panic stricken, according to his own story to his friends, he picked up the body and laid it along the fence where it was later found half nude, by Walter Doman.

Testimony of the five witnesses indicated they were dominated by Kunselman through a fear they evidenced for the oil fields worker who appeared to dominate them.

Learned Hiding Place
Sickles testified he learned Kunselman was in hiding in Washington after Dorothy Virginia's death as the result of a note delivered to him by Elmer Kunselman, father of the defendant. The note requested him to meet Ray Kunselman in the eighth ward school building where he had been hiding for four months while eluding officers.

As Sickles entered the building, he heard a door latch click, he testified, and he could distinguish Kunselman in the moonlight.

"First, he ordered me to 'stick 'em up,'" Sickles testified.

"Then, he recognized me and threw his arms around me and started to cry."

"I'm going crazy," he said to me. "I told him to pull himself together, and everything would be all right."

Then Kunselman broke down and told him the story of Dorothy Virginia's death, Sickles testified.

From the testimony offered, it was indicated Kunselman planned the Jacobs holdup in the hope of obtaining money with which to take a trip to Ohio with Dorothy Virginia.

Supreme Officers Of P. H. C. Attend Wednesday Meeting

Distinguished P. H. C. Leaders
Are Here For Anniversary Meeting

Members of the Protected Home Circle assembled last evening at the Knights of Malta hall to celebrate the golden anniversary of the order. Special guests were present from Sharon, Pittsburgh and Greenville. The degree team of Triumph Circle, Pittsburgh, with Captain Shaffer in charge, initiated a large class of candidates. They also gave an exhibition drill. The local degree team entertained these visitors at a 7 o'clock dinner.

During the evening meeting which was presided over by George W. Muse in a very efficient manner. An appropriate address was made by Supreme President S. H. Hadley. Fred Service, supreme solicitor, Frank Mallett, supreme guide and H. G. Moore, supreme treasurer, also contributed in a large way to the success of the meeting. Grand President of Pennsylvania Miss Ida Armstrong spoke in a very gracious manner. Miss Armstrong and Mrs. Shaffer were presented with corsages.

Dancing followed the meeting and lunch was served by the guardian and her committee, bringing to a close a very splendid meeting and one with lots of good fellowship.

Road Planning Work Started

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Permanent roadside improvements which will reduce maintenance costs, promote safety and add to the beauty of the highway system are being undertaken in connection with the $32,000,000 WPA Road Betterment program now under way, according to Warren VanDyke, secretary of highways. Approximately 250 men will be employed on the work, as weather permits, throughout the winter.

Under plans worked out by the forestry unit of the department, honeysuckle and meadow spirea are being transplanted on slopes which cut back as a safety measure under this program. Steep banks and sight-view hazards at curves and intersections are receiving special attention.

Huey Long's filibuster speech cost the government $5,000. It took up 100 pages of the Congressional Record at $50 a page.

Grandson Of Late 'Teddy' Roosevelt Held By Police

Arrested With Another Student For Sniping On Automobiles

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21.—Cornelius Van Shaack Roosevelt, 20-year-old grandson of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, and Peter De Florez, 21, of Pomfret, Vt., students at Massachusetts Institute of technology, today face arraignment in district court on charges of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon. Police said a more serious charge may be lodged against the students.

They were arrested while allegedly sniping at motorists with a German type air pistol from a dormitory window on Memorial Drive. The pistol discharged a shot twice as large as an ordinary air rifle.

Investigating a complaint by a motorist that his automobile had been fired on, a police cruising car was sent to the scene. The officers said their car received two charges of the leaden pellets.

Entering the dormitory, the officers said they found young Roosevelt and De Florez and the pistol.

The students were released on $200 bonds each provided by a Boston family friend of Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

PULASKI

ENTERTAIN CLASS

Mrs. Frank Gearhart and Mrs. Robert Garrett proved very successful hostesses when they entertained the members of the Elizabeth Parsons Bible class of the Presbyterian Sunday school at the home of Mrs. Gearhart on Tuesday afternoon. A business meeting was held over which the president, Mrs. Paul H. McClenahan, presided. A Thanksgiving programme was given with Mrs. John Neal in charge. Two selections were sung by little Miss Yvonne Nottingham, after which a social afternoon was enjoyed, and a very delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Gearhart and Mrs. Garrett, assisted by the former's daughter, Mrs. Charles Edeburn. Twenty-eight were present. Hostesses for the next meeting are Mrs. Edward Scott and Mrs. Thomas Scott.

W. B. A. MEETING

The regular meeting of the Women's Benefit association was held on Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. J. P. Myers in charge. Following the business meeting a social evening was enjoyed. A fine lunch was served by Mrs. Joseph Clark and Mrs. James Black, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Turner. Social committee for December is Mrs. J. R. Meek and Mrs. Ralph Ayers.

PULASKI NOTES

Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brown, is confined to her home with scarlet fever.

Mrs. Rosanna Nagle of Hannibal, Mo., and Mrs. P. M. Taylor of West Middlesex were recent guests of the latter's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Taylor.

Mrs. E. Reese spent the day recently the guest of friends in Youngstown.

Mrs. George Pappas is confined to her home with illness.

The reflecting telescope of the University of Toronto is a foot thick and weighs almost 5,000 pounds.

BUTLER COUNTY UTILITY RATES MAY BE PROBED

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 21.—Officials of the city of Butler and Butler township today studied demands that the rates of three utility companies in this section be investigated.

Asserting the rates were exorbitant, groups of citizens demanded a survey of the Butler Water company, West Penn Power company and the T. W. Phillips Gas and Oil company be instituted in an effort to obtain reductions and refunds.

They charged the companies' rates were the fourth highest in the state.

Bishop Richardson Is Re-Elected For His Eighth Term

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—Bishop Earnest O. Richardson, head of the Methodist Episcopal church in this area, today began his eighth consecutive term as president of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Home Missions and Church Extension.

Bishop Richardson was re-elected unanimously at the closing session of the 1936 general conference.

Delegates approved a plan to create an $8,000,000 revolving loan fund for the use of financially distressed churches. Final approval rests with the general convention in Columbus, next year.

NEAR $400,000,000
IN R. F. C. LOANS MADE TO NATION'S RAILROADS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The R. F. C. will begin its December business with a total of $400,000,000 outstanding in loans to railroads. Chairman Jesse Jones revealed today as he announced the New York Central would meet its $15,000,000 obligation to the government Dec. 1.

New York Central's payment will be the largest made by any carrier to date, and brings repayments to the government by railroads to an aggregate of $75,000,000.

One thousand crocodiles, captured alive in the jungles of South America, have just arrived in Holland and placed in tropical surroundings at the zoo at Rhenen, on the Rhine. This gives Holland the third largest collecting of "crocs" in the world, Paris and Berlin having more.

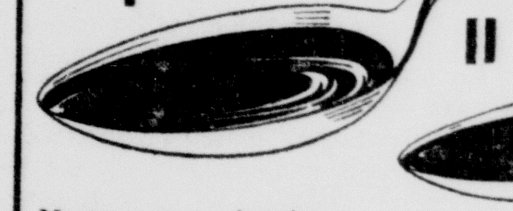

No More UPSETS!

The proper treatment for a bilious child.

THREE STEPS

TO RELIEVING

CONSTIPATION

Measure-out a cleansing dose of liquid laxative, regulating the amount to suit the age, condition and individual need.

Tomorrow, take less; let the regular muscular action of the bowels do part of the work.

Reduce the dose each time, until regularity has been completely restored.

It has the approval of the doctors

Any mother knows the reason when her child stops playing, eats little, is hard to manage, Constipation. But what a pity so few know the sensible way to set things right!

The ordinary laxatives, of even ordinary strength, should be given in very moderate amounts. A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

Physicians use liquid laxatives. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. And today, there are at least a million families that would have no other kind in the house.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, now so widely known that you can get it all ready for use at any drugstore, anywhere. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit.

Try Syrup Pepsin! It will make you wonder how you could ever get along with any cathartic that disturbs the system, and actually retards your return to regularity.

School Supplies For Quaker City

Books Figured By The Ton
And Other Supplies By The Thousand Pieces

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The division of supplies of the Philadelphia Board of Education, like coal merchants, talk about textbooks in terms of tons.

And they use the same language in discussing other purchases to supply classroom necessities for youngsters attending Philadelphia schools.

According to officials of the division, an average of 300 tons of textbooks are used in the schools each year. But if that figure is startling, take a look at these, all of them an estimated year's supply:

One hundred thousand reams of writing paper, 2400 gallons of ink, 22,000 dozen—254,000—pencils, 144,000 copybooks, 3,000 reams of drawing paper, 168,000 drawing pencils, 48,000 erasers, 6,700 gross of blackboard chalk, 36,000 rulers, 46 dozen yardsticks, and 5,000 blackboard erasers.

Supply officials took time to explain the rulers and yardsticks were used for educational, not disciplinary purposes.

The above figures do not include the thousands of feet of lumber and tons of iron and steel, machine tools and general hardware for vocational classes. And, in science classes, numerous chemicals are purchased by the gallons and glassware by the gross.

In addition to all this, the board purchases sewing and cooking supplies for home economics; physical training apparatus; sheet music,

PASTOR RESIGNS

The many friends of Rev. S. D.
McBride, pastor of the Mahoning
U. P. church, will be sorry to learn he tendered his resignation to the congregation Sunday morning to accept a call to the Grace Community church at Los Angeles, California, the first of the year.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kretzer were most pleasantly surprised Friday evening when over thirty friends and neighbors gathered at their home to remind them of their 15th wedding anniversary.

A social time was enjoyed during the evening after which a delicious lunch was served.

At the conclusion of the evening
Elmer Baird, on behalf of the guests presented Mr. and Mrs. Kretzer a lovely set of glassware.

THANK OFFERING SERVICE

The annual Thank Offering service was held in the Mahoning church Sunday evening.

Mrs. Harry Kretzer led the devotionals; Mrs. E. F. Munn led in prayer and music was furnished by the Junior Missionary society. Miss Lillian McConnell, daughter of a former pastor of Mahoning and a missionary in India for 33 years, gave an interesting talk of thank offering services in India.

TENT HALL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kretzer and family were guests Sunday evening of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Young of Lowellville, where they entertained in honor of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Kret-zer. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Mc-Creary, which are all this month.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Teal, the latter, Miss Florence Erskine of Chicago, will be sorry to learn their son, John, was operated on at a Chicago hospital, having a ruptured appendix.

GOBBLERS READY

FOR THANKSGIVING

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Pennsylvania turkey production will not vary much from last year, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service. The quality of the crop is better and it is estimated that 49 per cent will be ready for the Thanksgiving market. The number of turkeys in the United States is less than in 1934.

Kiwanians Told That Crisis May Arise In Relief

Dr. Bennett, At Luncheon, Recommends Welfare
Board For City

Dr. G. S. Bennett, vice chairman of the citizens' board serving Relief Area No. 10, embracing Lawrence, Mercer and Butler counties, told the Kiwanis club yesterday that
"a serious relief crisis" may confront New Castle and other city governments after the federal relief dole ends substantially on December 1 and he warned that "it's time now that somebody had better be doing something about it."

Dr. Bennett's warning was not a critical one directed toward public officials but rather a "sincere expression" of his belief in the chang-

His message was meant for citizens in general as well as for public officials.

To support his conviction that action should be taken now—some movement to prepare for developments—Dr. Bennett said that he has already consulted with Mayor-elect Charles E. McGrath and he expects to see the new county commissioners.

Speaking before the club at its luncheon in The Castleton, Dr. Bennett suggested that a "city welfare board" of volunteers be established to handle city problems that may arise.

How money for the support of the needy is to be raised after the federal gifts to states ends December 1 was given considerable attention in Dr. Bennett's message. He reminded that Governor George H.
Earle has indicated he would call a special session of the legislature to consider, among other things, the relief questions and that of old age pension legislation.

"No problem facing us in New Castle today is more acute than the relief problem," Dr. Bennett declared.

The American Red Cross here and the Anti-Tuberculosis society were heartily commended for their work, especially the Red Cross which has carried much of the burden locally during the depression years.

Vice president Harry L. Gormley, who presided at the meeting, named a committee headed by Robert L.
Wallace to serve as a reception committee for new Kiwanis members at the December 11 meeting.

FEW TYPHOID FEVER

CASES IN STATE

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—If the typhoid fever rate sustained throughout 1935 to the present is maintained until the end of the year fewer people will have contracted typhoid fever and fewer deaths will have resulted than ever before in the history of the Department of Health, according to a report submitted today by the bureau of vital statistics to Secretary of Health MacBride-Dexter.

This highly satisfactory condition has developed in spite of two outbreaks of typhoid fever in metropolitan areas directly "traceable to contaminated food. The constant surveillance of water and milk supplies and modern methods of sewage disposal were given the major credit for this excellent showing.

MOTORING HISTORY

100,000 MILES WITHOUT MOTOR REPAIRS OR CARBON REMOVAL

June 6th, 1935 October 31st, 1935

Between those dates, six automobiles for the first time traveled 100,000 miles each, WITH-OUT CARBON REMOVAL AND WITHOUT RE-PAIRS TO ANY LUBRICATED ENGINE PART . . .
thanks to Atlantic White Flash, Atlantic Motor Oil and Atlantic Lubrication!

The cars were stock models, with no special parts or adjustments. They were driven over
New Jersey roads by non-professional drivers, day and night, covering 40 miles for every hour on the road. Without so much as a single pistonring replacement . . . all the automobiles were still giving new-car acceleration and new-car gasoline mileage at the end!

The same Atlantic Products used in the

Borah Evades Taking Stand

Refuses To Commit Self In Interviews With Newspapermen At Capital

IS LOOKING FOR PUBLICITY

Central Press Washington Bureau 1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Senator William E. Borah hasn't told the reporters much since his return to the east from Idaho.

They resent his evasiveness considerably.

For this resentment there is some justification.

No senator ever has used the Washington correspondents' corps to publicize himself quite so successfully as has the Boise statesman. When the scribes want a bit of information from him, for which their readers are clamoring, they believe that they ought to get it in plain terms. They haven't had it from him thus far.

DESIRES PUBLICITY

Yet the senator still wants the boys to advertise him.

The day after his arrival from the west in the capital he sent out a trumpet call to all of them to gather in his office for a press conference.

They took it for granted that he was about to express himself definitely concerning his position toward next year's Republican presidential nomination and were on hand to the number of 40 or 50, almost half as good an attendance as there is at the average White House press conference.

And all they listened to, as one disgruntled chronicler put it, was "a lot of verbal shadow boxing".

BORAH'S POSITION

To be sure, correspondents and politicians have drawn certain conclusions.

The opinion in general is that Senator Borah does not greatly care for the G. O. P. presidential non-ination if he can name the candidate and dictate the platform at the 1936 Republican national convention but that he is prepared to risk chucking his personal sombrero into the ring if he decides he can't have his own way by proxy.

He would be running a big risk, too, by accepting the presidential nomination.

He can't very well run for the presidency and for re-election to the senate at the same time; he must wave his senatorial chances if he tries for the executive mansion.

As a senatorial candidate he undoubtedly is confident of his ability to win, and a senate seat is better than defeat for the presidency. It is true that a few prejudiced folk say the Idahoan can't even be re-elected to the senate, but most political analysts hold that he can't be beaten for another term in the upper congressional chamber. The presidency is a different matter. Perhaps Borah would make the strongest run of any Republican, but no prognosticator contends that he would stand more than a very off-side chance of defeating President Roosevelt, however much he might reduce the latter's 1932 majority.

TOO MUCH OF RISK

A younger man perhaps might be willing to take a presidential licking next year, by a creditably narrow margin, with 1940 in sight.

Borah, however, already is past 70. Defeated for the presidency and out of the senate, his career would be ended.

From what I have seen of Borah I believe that he has the public spirit to stake all this if he considers it absolutely necessary. I can't wonder that he ponders the prospect deeply.

VICE PRESIDENT IMPORTANT

Borah, should he be presidentially nominated and elected, will be close to 72 before he can be inaugurated.

It is conceivable that he might die before the end of his term or early in it.

Is so, who would succeed him?

This consideration, in the event of his nomination, will make the choice of a vice presidential candidate of more than ordinary importance.

Ordinarily, after a presidential candidate has been picked, the vice presidential candidate has been named to "balance the ticket"—geographically and otherwise. East and west. Conservative and liberal. Or vice versa.

Here is a case in which one nomination would be nearly as significant as the other.

DOGS LICENSED

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—The latest report from the Bureau of Animal Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, shows 545,705 dogs licensed in the Commonwealth. This number is 25,590 more than for the corresponding period in 1934. There are 725 kennels licensed which is forty-two more than a year ago.

Over 18,800 uncontrolled dogs were killed by police officials during the first ten months this year and 1896 dog owners have been ordered prosecuted.

County Commissioner Elmer Conner believes that a lot of the WPA work which is now being done on country roads, such as cleaning out gutters, is of but a temporary character. He is of the opinion that a permanent opportunity exists for the employment of labor in constructing new roads. There are scores of roads in Lawrence county on which no improvements have been made. It may not be possible, says Mr. Conner, to provide the material for improving them under the Pinchot plan, but it is possible to put in a good stone base and cover it with gravel, until such a time as a more suitable covering can be secured.

There is plenty of stone in all districts and generally gravel within a reasonable distance. With abundance of labor at little cost to local taxpayers why not have this labor employed on permanent, instead of temporary improvements? There are hundreds of farmers in the county who have difficulty in getting out when roads are bad. With a good stone base it would be possible to travel any road at any time of the year.

Two good examples of permanent improvement can be found on the West Pittsburgh and the Park Gate roads. On these roads the gutters are being rip-rapped with stone. With a suitable covering the gutters will need practically no attention in the future. Even if there is no covering the crevices will soon fill up with soil and make gutters far superior to the mud ditches that are continually washing away. "I think it would be a good idea to rip-rap more gutters, and wherever possible put in stone foundations on side roads, not now improved," says Mr. Conner. "This would mean that we are getting something of permanent value for the labor expended. The WPA is doing a good job in putting the gutters and banks along present highway in order, but this work will soon be finished. Stone foundations for unimproved roads, as I have suggested, would furnish permanent employment for a long time."

Registration Bureau Clerk Thomas Edmunds, announces that the bureau will open for registrations on January 5. Any person who has not already registered in the city of New Castle can apply for registration at the office. The office will be open for registrations until about 15 days before the spring primaries. Persons moving from one district to another, who are already registered, can change their registrations at any time.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has received from Chief of Police Leroy Goodwin, of Youngstown, O., descriptions of Leo Harrison and John Andrew Nadzan, who are wanted in that City for shooting and seriously wounding Detective Harry Rowe. Harrison is 23 years old, 5.7 feet tall, weight 143, dark hair and eyes. Nadzan is 21 years old, 5.5 feet tall, weight 131, dark hair and eyes.

Ray H. Aylesworth, receiver of the Pittsburgh Company of Ellwood City, has been authorized to sell to Marshall Matheny for $2,400, certain lands and water rights lying in Ellwood City and Wayne township.

Lawrence county has a big delinquent tax list, but look at Mahoning county, O. According to the latest figures Mahoning county has $11,000,000 delinquent taxes on her books. Of this amount, it is estimated that fully $5,000,000 is on vacant lots. The tax collectors think that they may be able to collect a good part of the delinquent taxes on improved property, but they are not so sure about lots.

Lawrence county has a big delinquent tax list, but look at Mahoning county, O. According to the latest figures Mahoning county has $11,000,000 delinquent taxes on her books. Of this amount, it is estimated that fully $5,000,000 is on vacant lots. The tax collectors think that they may be able to collect a good part of the delinquent taxes on improved property, but they are not so sure about lots.

County Commissioner Elmer Conner believes that a lot of the WPA work which is now being done on country roads, such as cleaning out gutters, is of but a temporary character. He is of the opinion that a permanent opportunity exists for the employment of labor in constructing new roads. There are scores of roads in Lawrence county on which no improvements have been made. It may not be possible, says Mr. Conner, to provide the material for improving them under the Pinchot plan, but it is possible to put in a good stone base and cover it with gravel, until such a time as a more suitable covering can be secured.

There is plenty of stone in all districts and generally gravel within a reasonable distance. With abundance of labor at little cost to local taxpayers why not have this labor employed on permanent, instead of temporary improvements? There are hundreds of farmers in the county who have difficulty in getting out when roads are bad. With a good stone base it would be possible to travel any road at any time of the year.

Two good examples of permanent improvement can be found on the West Pittsburgh and the Park Gate roads. On these roads the gutters are being rip-rapped with stone. With a suitable covering the gutters will need practically no attention in the future. Even if there is no covering the crevices will soon fill up with soil and make gutters far superior to the mud ditches that are continually washing away. "I think it would be a good idea to rip-rap more gutters, and wherever possible put in stone foundations on side roads, not now improved," says Mr. Conner. "This would mean that we are getting something of permanent value for the labor expended. The WPA is doing a good job in putting the gutters and banks along present highway in order, but this work will soon be finished. Stone foundations for unimproved roads, as I have suggested, would furnish permanent employment for a long time."

Registration Bureau Clerk Thomas Edmunds, announces that the bureau will open for registrations on January 5. Any person who has not already registered in the city of New Castle can apply for registration at the office. The office will be open for registrations until about 15 days before the spring primaries. Persons moving from one district to another, who are already registered, can change their registrations at any time.

Cats, Snakes, Spiders
Swell Accident Toll

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—A study of industrial accidents in Pennsylvania, being made by Secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Bashore in an effort to reduce their number, has revealed scores of peculiar mishaps.

Cats, snakes, spiders, cows, turtles, pigs and horses have aided in increasing the total of injured workmen in recent months. These unusual accidents, Mr. Bashore stated, seem to dramatize the need for unremitting carefulness on the part of employers and employees, although in some cases the injuries seem unavoidable.

In West Homestead an employee found his employer's pet cat with its head caught in a salmon can. Being a humane man, he extricated the cat. His reward was a badly lacerated hand, inflicted by the cat.

A Philadelphia fireman tripped over a cat, stumbled from the first floor to the cellar, suffering cerebral concussion and contusions. An Eastern hotel employee, starting to the basement to attend to the boilers, stepped on a cat and suffered severe sprains when he toppled down the flight of stairs. A bartender in Wilkes-Barre was severely scratched trying to put a cat out of the taproom.

A worker in a Philadelphia restaurant was badly bitten by a snapping turtle. In Pittsburgh an employee preparing bags for the day's work was bitten by a spider, a seman was milking one of his employer's cows. The cow kicked, throwing him off balance and under the feet of another cow. The second cow kicked him in the temple. An Erie farm worker was holding a pig for a medicinal injection. The pig lurched, slamming the worker against a board. A protruding nail punctured his hand.

A Pittsburgh restaurant worker was waiting upon a customer when the globe on a ceiling light dropped on his head, cutting his scalp. In Philadelphia workmen were moving a group of statuary. One workman was injured when the head of one statue broke off and fell on him. One man lost a toe but suffered no bodily injury.

In Dauphin county a crippled worker was kicking over a motor to start a motorcycle. A backfire slammed back the starting pedal, breaking off the toe of his artificial limb. An Allegheny county worker slipped on a toothpick and fell down a flight of twelve steps.

"These are some unusual accidents," said Secretary Bashore, "I cite them to bring out the need of care at all times and in all circumstances, so that by co-operation we may further reduce the number of industrial accidents in Pennsylvania."

Finger Crushed On WPA Road Project

Howard Mechling, of 2 Norris way, is under the care of a physician for a severe injury to his hand received Tuesday while working on the Harbor Road WPA project. One finger was crushed when Mechling's hand was caught between two stones.

MY NEW YORK
By JAS. ASWELL

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Ran-domizing: A romantic fillip passing the house in which Mark Twain lived in lower Fifth Avenue, reflecting upon the 100th anniversary of his nativity... A grand, strange old man, about whose real opinions so little was known... Indeed the years obscure much more than we realize of our great men... Take the case of Washington Irving... For years I have lived a stone's throw from a tea-room restaurant tabled to commemorate Irving's occupancy... Yet I am told this is sheer moonshine; that he never set foot in the place, according to authoritative antiquaries, living instead in a rooming house in 22nd Street, five blocks away, which has no plaque at all... Bernard Simon, one of the more scholarly drama publicizers, prepared a lengthy disquisition upon the ill-fated Irish patriot, Charles Stewart Parnell, to induce a revival of interest in the love affair which blasted Parnell's political career and retarded home rule a generation in Ireland... The piece was replete with bibliography and learnedly distilled color... But the play, "Parnell," which I think you will like if it runs until you next get here, had another facet of sad circumstance... Elsie Schaeffer, who wrote it, died during rehearsals and missed that breathless first-night agony of not knowing whether a hit or a flop had come from her pen... There is probably no other experience like it on this earth, playwrights assure me...

voice for technicolor—in order to get accurate recording of the blue notes"...

If I were still composing newspaper feature stories for my keep, I'd devote one to Laurence H. Hart, of Washington, D. C., the only full-time, professional George Washington in the world... Or perhaps Bob Ripley could do better by this curious gentleman, who goes about the country impersonating the papa of the land... He's out on Long Island, now, appearing in some hundred schools in wig and knee-breeches and answering any sensible question put to him in Washington's own recorded words... He has embellished many a parade, convention and patriotic rally and plied his trade in some 600 schools throughout the land and I am told he makes a good living from it... His stationery heralds "Laurence H. Hart, Impersonator of George Washington"... He's thinking of incorporating himself...

Emil Coleman, the professor of polite jazziques, told me he got his first Manhattan job on a fluke... Peniless, he wandered into Busta-noby's, that old-time oasis, and the orchestra leader was too busy scratching music on a lead sheet to interview him... But a piano player was needed and quickly... He got the job—and the boss was none other than Sigmund Romberg, headed for later musical renown... So many first jobs are landed like that in a dizzy spiral of luck; and, come to think, so many firings occur for similar reasons.

ROAD PHOTOS

County To Pay Costs Of Trial

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 21.—Ex-convict of Michael Donovan, mine superintendent, and 12 deputy sheriffs of charges growing out of a mine riot became complete today after the state superior court in Philadelphia exempted the acquitted men from approximately $2000 in costs involved in their trials.

The group appealed to the higher court when Judge Thomas Hudson of Fayette county upheld the jury verdict placing costs on the defendants. The decision reverts the expense to the county.

DR. H. B. HENDERSON IS ACCORDED HONOR BY HIS CONGREGATION

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Nov. 21.—Back from the two-months speaking tour during which he spoke 79 times in 60 days, and covered 15 states, Dr. H. B. Henderson was the guest of honor at a dinner tendered by his U. P. congregation here, at which he received a massive chest of sterling silver from members. The occasion marked the tenth anniversary of his local pastorate, and the dinner was attended by 550 persons.

The speaking tour was arranged by Moses E. Shaw of Chicago, secretary of young people's work in the denomination. Mr. Shaw accompanied Dr. Henderson on the trip, which was made by motor. The itinerary was from Chicago through the northern tier of states to Seattle, Wash.; south to San Diego, then east to Texas and north to Chicago.

Dr. Henderson spoke as often as five times daily and filled pulpits in all of the principal cities on Sundays. His tour covered every Presbytery of the United Presbyterian west of Indiana.

FAT GIRLS GET THE GO-BY—SLIM GIRLS WIN MEN

Less Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little blood is not working right. All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same scientific method used by doctors. So why not lose fat the easy way—without starvation diets or back-breaking, bending and rolling exercises? Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get Marmola today from druggists.

Attack Liquor Traffic Laws

Threats Of Repeal Of Legalized Drinking Heard At Grange Sessions

SEEK MOVE TO STEM TIDE OF DRUNKENNESS

(International News Service)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 21.—Forces of the state equalization board, state and national grangers, legislative interim committees and worried public groups, were armed today for a nationwide drive for "new teeth" and clarification of tangled liquor traffic laws.

Threats of repeal of legalized drinking sounded in meetings of the National Grange, assembled here for their annual conventions for farm-and liquor-relief. The first verbal shot was fired by E. S. Vanatta, chief granger of North Carolina, who filed a drastic demand with fellow grangers representing 36 American states.

The Carolina resolution said:

"With the advent of legalized liquor there has been an alarming increase of crime; also a big boost in highway accidents and fatalities directly attributed to drunken drivers. It is resolved the grange enter on a program designed to stem the growing tide of drunkenness and all of its inherent evils."

Grangers were scheduled to adjourn late today after a two-week convention and organization of a stringent legislation program of more than a hundred proposals for agriculture and industrial relief, to be submitted to the next session of congress.

Progressive Program
Grange leaders declared this 1935 farm program ranks as the most progressive in grange history. Strict regulation of public utility practices to eliminate unfair profits was included in approved grange legislative policies.

State Master C. H. Bramble of Michigan, who introduced this resolution, urged the National Grange use its influence in abolishing needless utility holding companies and insisted "this practice of pyramiding unnecessary expense of utility service be discontinued through strict legislation and regulation."

Agriculture also joined with organized labor in a drive for repeal of sales taxes. This controversial issue, with demands for expansion of cooperative marketing, elimination of unnecessary utility companies, taxation of butter substitutes, were mentioned as major policies of the 1935 farm industry.

Dight Resigns His State Post

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Two resignations in the Department of Internal Affairs, including that of the deputy secretary, had been announced today by Thomas A. Logue, secretary of internal affairs.

John C. Dight, Butler, tendered his resignation, to be effective December 16, as deputy secretary, while J. Herman Knisley, Harrisburg, director of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs, tendered his resignation effective in December. The department gave no reasons for the proffered retirements.

Two Local Attorneys Disbarred By Court

Judges Hand Down Opinions In Cases Of Samuel L. Clark And M. J. Kraus

Attorney Samuel L. Clark of New Castle and Attorney M. J. Kraus of Ellwood City were disbarred in opinions handed down by Judges R.

L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers at court this morning.

The Clark and Kraus cases originated when complaints were made to the Lawrence County Bar association that they had been dilatory in financial matters with clients. The Bar association appointed a committee to investigate. Hearings were held at which the facts of the cases were brought out.

As a result the court finds that the attorneys have been guilty of professional misconduct. Four specific cases are cited in the opinion against Kraus, and two in opinion against Clark. Both attorneys have been members of the Lawrence county bar for many years. Disbarment means that they cannot longer practice before the courts of Lawrence county.

CLEVELAND MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Auto Damage Case Before Arbitrators

Unusual Proceeding In Case Of J. A. Haupt And A. B. Fleisgarten Against George Truby

For the first time in the history of the county an automobile damage case is being heard before arbitrators at the court house today. The case is that in which George Truby of this city is defendant in actions brought by John A. Haupt of Sharon and A. B. Fleisgarten of this city.

The arbitrators agreed upon between the litigants are Attorney Rufus C. McKinley, James B. Foster and James A. Pitzer. Suits were entered by the plaintiffs for damages aggregating around $20,000. Usually such cases go to a jury of twelve men. The agreement to submit this one to arbitrators means that the three will make up a verdict instead of twelve.

The circumstances surrounding the case are these: Haupt and Fleisgarten were guests in George Truby's car on December 3, 1934. Truby was driving along the highway between Clintonville and Barkleyville. The road was covered with snow and ice.

After ascending a hill Truby encountered an unusually icy spot at the top. He applied his brakes. The car skidded into a telephone pole and Haupt and Fleisgarten were injured.

Crawford County Judge To Preside In Mercer Court

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Nov. 21.—Judge Claire Kery of Crawford county will be here the week of December 9 to preside at the two murder actions scheduled for the December term in this county. The retirement from the bench of Judge J. A. McLaughry county jurist, January 6 makes hearing of re-trial argument impossible. To cover this contingency Judge Kery has been obtained.

Scheduled for hearing is the action charging Le Roy Palmer, 28, Grove City with the killing of Howard Sidley, 26, March 16 last when Sidley was chopped to death with his own axe and the killing of Mike Kuzia of Sharon for which crime Mike Tykowski of that city is held. A club was used as the lethal weapon in this case.

Calls Conference For Discussing Of Motor Accidents

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—At the suggestion of President Roosevelt, Secretary of Commerce Roper today made plans for a conference next month to seek ways of reducing the nation's accident toll.

Declaring that accidents provide "our gravest" national problem, the president suggested that Roper gather together here men prominent in civic and accident prevention lines to exchange their views. Roper appointed Senator A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, as chairman of the conference.

List 87 Trucks For W. P. A. Work

Thirty-seven trucks were listed by D. W. LaRue, special field representative of the WPA on Wednesday evening for work in transporting workers and materials on WPA projects. This makes 87 trucks in all that have been listed by the WPA.

An order was issued today by V. Vale Downie, district director for WPA calling the trucks for Friday morning November 22, at 8 o'clock, at the Carnegie grounds on South Mill street. The owner-operators will report to C. Harvey Mitholland.

All men called for Friday, November 22, who were to report at the public square will report to the Carnegie grounds instead.

Holding Company Law Is Attacked

United Gas Improvement Company Attacks Constitutionality Of Law

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The "fighting attitude" of the United Gas Improvement Company against $800,000,000 holding company which owns or controls 55 subsidiaries in several states, today was viewed in Philadelphia financial circles as setting an example that will be widely imitated.

After announcing it would refuse to obey President Roosevelt's public utilities holding company law by registering with the securities exchange commission, the company filed suit in U. S. district court urging the act to be declared unconstitutional.

Counsel for the company, founded in 1882, petitioned the court to grant a temporary injunction prohibiting enforcement of the act, in

HARD TIME PROVING THAT HE IS ALIVE

(International News Service)
PRAGUE, Nov. 21.—A Bohemian farmer is trying hard to prove that he is alive—so far without success.

Unless Robert Guenzl, of Zatec, can satisfy the authorities that he is living, his "widow" will have to pay inheritance taxes on her "late" husband's estate.

When his wife received the demand for taxes, her husband protested to officials that he was alive. The officials agreed that there must have been some error somewhere, but pointed out that they were in no position to make the necessary correction unless Guenzl could produce a certificate proving that he really was alive.

The fact that the parish church at which Guenzl was baptised and married did not mention his death in its register was not accepted as proof that he was still living.

State Senator Bean Says
Session Is Called For Political Purposes

G. O. P. WOMEN HEAR
STRONG ADDRESSES

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Envisioning a new ascendancy of the G. O. P. and a repudiation of Democratic policies, Pennsylvania's Council of Republican Women rallied here today in final sessions of their 13th annual three-day convention.

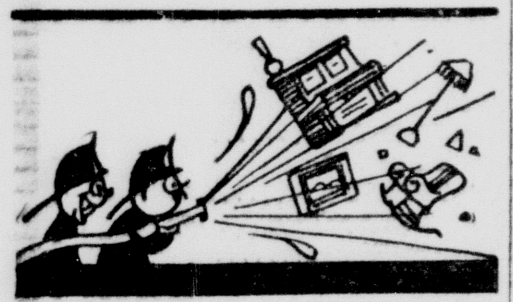

Their optimism was heightened, as they awaited the key message of the conclave from Republican National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, by the battle cries of state senate leaders who flayed the Earle administration.

Specifically, State Senator Theodore K. Bean accused Gov. George H. Earle of calling the forthcoming special session of the legislature as a means of securing political power through a "tax squeeze beyond the bounds of common sense and into utmost absurdity."

"The acts of the assembly," Bean declared, "will be only politicians' measures designed to increase goodwill for their sponsor and to be politically embarrassing to those who oppose them."

No less caustic was Bean's colleague, Senator G. Mason Owlett, of Tioga, who declared that the two "real illnesses" from which the Democratic party is suffering in Pennsylvania are "taxomania and revisionism."

Bean praised Henry Ford for his

HOSPITALS, NEEDY

New Castle residents on Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock will assemble at the Elks' home for the community card party which the local Elks' lodge is sponsoring as a benefit for the Jameson Memorial and the New Castle hospitals and for its own charity fund.

General Chairman Harry Alexander and his committee aides announced that "our home is ready for our guests" today. A crew of workmen placed the lodge home in readiness yesterday.

A committee meeting, held at the home last night, indicated the party will be a success. Ticket sales, a report showed, have been fine.

Those who wish to reserve card tables for play during the evening were asked today to immediately call Bell 1766 or Bell 1136 to make known their desires. Tables will be kept for parties doing this. All card play it was stressed today will get under way promptly at 8:15. Ushers will escort guests to their tables.

Bridge will be played in the big lodgeroom on the third floor, five hundred on the second floor and bingo in the spacious basement.

Additional committee aides named today included the following:

Candy and refreshments committee: Mrs. James Eagan, chairman; Mrs. Ben S. Mrs. Jack Gerson and Mrs. J. Kulkin today were announced as chairmen of the committee of prizes and C. W. Herman Hess and Edward F. Ryan were named chairman of the cards, tables and chairs committee.

Mussolini To Release Soldiers For Farm Work

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Nov. 21.—The rapidly growing seriousness of the economic war of more than 50 nations against Italy thrust the Ethiopian campaign into the background today, and Premier Mussolini was forced to release 100,000 soldiers to wield plows instead of guns.

Three months' "agricultural furloughs" were granted to these men, sending them back to the farm instead of shipping them to East Africa.

A government communique—one of the first official admissions of the hardships facing Italy as a result of the league of nations sanctions—emphasized that these soldiers must be ready to return to the colors on the shortest notice. The communique said:

"The special situation caused by sanctions imposes the necessity of giving the greatest attention to the problems of production and labor, to assure to agriculture the largest crops possible, and to improve at the same time the situation of poverty stricken families."

"The war ministry, therefore, has decreed that there shall be conceded agricultural furloughs for a period of three months."

"Special furloughs for the same period will be granted to soldiers whose families are in a particularly distressed economic condition."

"These furloughs will be granted as rewards to soldiers whose meritorious conduct and work during their instruction period warrants, and who have finished at least eight months of effective service, and whose families are especially needy."

Attack Holding Company Bill On Three Fronts

(International News Service)

On three fronts, new attacks were launched today against President Roosevelt's utility holding company law as a federal court granted an appeal from the decision of a Maryland judge holding the statute unconstitutional.

Coincidentally, constitutionality on two other major administration measures—the agricultural adjustment act and the Guffey-Snyder bituminous coal act—was attacked in court proceedings at Washington and Pittsburgh.

In Philadelphia, the United Gas Improvement company, giant $800,000,000 concern which owns or controls 55 subsidiaries in several states, announced it would refuse to obey the law by registering with the securities exchange commission and filed suit in federal court seeking a temporary injunction prohibiting enforcement of the law.

In New York, the Consolidated Gas company also announced it would refuse to register with the S. E. C. by December 1, as the law requires, and declared further it would battle the holding company act in the courts.

At the same time, the Delaware Electric Power company, at Wilmington, filed suit attacking constitutionality of the law, declaring "irreparable damage" to it would result if the act is enforced.

Meanwhile, the U. S. circuit court of appeals for the fourth district granted to Bureau, Inc., holders of several American states utility securities, an appeal from the recent decision of federal judge William E. Coleman holding the law unconstitutional.

Bureau, Inc., which brought the original suit to test the law, sought the appeal. A new hearing is expected to be held during the January term of the court at Charlotte, N. C.

The attacks on the AAA and the Guffey bill, setting up a so-called "Little NRA" for the soft coal industry, came as an anti-climax to the concerted, although widely separate actions by the utility interests.

At Washington, the A. A. A. drew the fire of two noted attorneys, John W. Davis and Nathan L. Miller, who filed a supreme court brief arguing that the processing taxes authorized by the act are unconstitutional. The government promptly countered with a challenge of the high tribunal's authority to issue a temporary injunction restraining collection of the rice processing tax.

At Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Coal Company—largest producer in the Pittsburgh region—petitioned federal court for an injunction against imposition and collection of penalties and taxes provided by the Guffey act and a ruling that the act itself is held unconstitutional.

Literary-Music School Contests In Mercer County

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Nov. 21.—The literary-music meet of the Mercer County Music-Literary association will be held December 6.

M. C. Little of Stoneboro high is president of the association and P. Jones of Sharon, the secretary. For a decade these meets have been a stimulus to academic training in the schools. Mercer and Greenville will not take part in the preliminary contests of December due to other school activities which prevent participation but will be contestants in the round-up of the spring held at Sharon.

The schedule includes a contest of Sharon at Grove City, Grove City at Sharpsville, Sharpsville at Farrell, Farrell at Sharon. This outlines the Class A school routine.

In the Class B group Hickory and West Middlesex are paired, Stoneboro and Sandy Lake, Fredonia and Jamestown, Jamestown and Transier, Transier and Fredonia, Hadley and Shekelsville. The following items of contest are required: Oration, essay, declamation, recitation. The following are elected: Extemporaneous speaking, dramatics, debate, piano, violin, voice.

Backseat Driving Banned In Reich

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Motorists who go driving with a girl friend in busy Berlin streets must take care in future not to talk to her if a policeman is about.

This is the effect of a new warning issued by the police yesterday as part of a "stricter-than-ever" drive to bring about still more "discipline" in the Berlin streets and reduce traffic accidents.

The warning reads in part: "The motorists ought no more to carry on a conversation at the wheel than a train-driver. The responsibility of driving demands the sharpest concentration and attention."

"These are not possible when two other people sit in front with the driver and hamper and disturb his driving."

Pedestrians in Berlin are now controlled with almost military strictness, and anyone crossing a busy street against the traffic lights or contrary to a policeman's signal is fined about 40c on the spot, with the alternative of a day's imprisonment.

LET KIDNEYS FLUSH OUT 3 LBS. A DAY

Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

Nature put over 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

When the passing of water is scanty, with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day!

Thanksgiving Party

GOOD PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

With an unusually large number of reservations in the Thanksgiving party of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, which will take place Friday evening, is expected to prove one of the finest yet held.

A splendid program of professional talent has been engaged for the occasion and their program in the auditorium will follow the dinner at 6:30 in the dining room.

The entertainment committee has secured Hank Miller and his Ozark Mountain boys; the Grace Sisters, an unusually high class dancing team, and Miss Edith DeVand, who is also a dancer of exceptional merit. The Grace Sisters also present a musical act in connection with their dancing.

In addition there will be cards and dancing for the devotees of these two diversions, and the entertainment committee feels that those who attend will be well pleased with the evening's arrangements.

Charge Local Man With Having Part In Ohio Swindle

Nick Perol, said to be from this city, was one of three men held by Canton, O. authorities in connection with the alleged fleeing of $2,500 from Charles Slusser, Louisville, at Canton, in a fake arrest racket, at Canton, October 8. The other two men are Lester Shaffer and John P. Carabine, of Youngstown. Perol was arrested here recently by Canton detectives and Patrolman D. J. Thomas.

According to Canton reports Slusser was accosted in a washroom of a Canton bank building and placed under "arrest" by two men who flashed a badge. Although vague as to the charge the men are alleged to have frightened Slusser, a farmer, into giving them $2,500 as bond for his municipal court appearance, three days later.

He appeared in court for arraignment and learned no charge was filed against him. He conferred with Public Prosecutor George Graham, an investigation started and the three men were arrested.

Horne, Is Read

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 21.—While he squirmed nervously in his seat, Ray Kunselman's confession of the slaying of his pretty sweetheart, Dorothy Virginia Horne, 19, was read in court today where the 35-year-old oil rigger is on trial for murder.

The confession, if such it could be called, was rather Kunselman's version of how Dorothy met her death during an argument.

The slaying occurred, according to the statement, as they grappled for possession of Kunselman's gun. The gun was accidentally discharged, the statement read.

Dorothy Virginia was tiring of her twice-married sweetheart of the oil-fields, the statement continued. She wanted to leave him. She accused him of affairs with other women, the statement continued. Ray wanted her to leave her friends and stick with him. At the climax of the argument they grappled for the gun. It was accidentally discharged, according to Kunselman.

The rest of the statement told how Kunselman fled, how he hid in Pittsburgh, Detroit, Wheeling, Dayton, Cincinnati, Columbus and Washington.

With the reading of the statement, the prosecution rested its case. District Attorney Warren S. Burchinal attached great importance to the statement, seeking to show it contradicted important testimony given by the defense.

Hitch-Hikes Way To School

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 21.—Westminster college has a "hitch-hiking" student who thumbs his way back and forth to school six times a week from a distance of 7 miles in the country and has never yet missed a class and has been late but once.

Hans Holmes, sophomore, who lives 7 miles from New Wilmington on the Sharon road, hitch-hiked to classes all last winter, even when the thermometer hit 20 degrees below zero. "Casey" as Hans Christian Holmes is known to his class-mates, is endowed with what fellow-students call "just plain luck."

Other students on the campus have unique ways of commuting, among them Richard Watt, of Youngstown, O., senior and varsity football tackle, who occasionally flies to class by plane, but Holmes is the champion hitch-hiker of the college without even a fair second as competitor.

Expect Throng At Y. W. Dinner

All-Association Dinner To Take Place In Cathedral
Saturday Night

GOOD PROGRAM IS BEING PREPARED

Although all reservations have not been made as yet a great throng is expected at the annual All-Association Dinner of the local Young Women's Christian Association in the Cathedral dining room Saturday evening.

In attendance will be members of all the Y. W. C. A. clubs, all its classes all its committees, its general membership, the board of directors, and as special guests, the dignitaries of the city, the presidents of the civic clubs and the board of Y. W. C. A. trustees.

Every year the affair has grown in its proportions and last year the facilities of the Cathedral were resorted to for the first time.

As has been the custom, it will be a tuxedo dinner, at 6:30 p. m., and each club, class and committee will have its separate table section and will make its own dinner arrangements.

One feature of the program will be a series of short tableaux by the Y. W. C. A. clubs depicting contributions from various countries of the world toward the progress of humanity. Each tableau will last only sixty seconds.

Tableaux Rehearsal

Rehearsal for the tableaux is to take place at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the west dining room of the Cathedral. All taking parts will bring costumes and properties.

Announcement is made that the Mahoningtown Girl Reserves will show America and its religious contribution; Benjamin Franklin Girl Reserves will show America and its contribution; George Washington Girl Reserves will show Switzerland and the League of Nations; Elm street Girl Reserves, Phoenixia and the alphabet; the I. I. Mothers' club, Poland and the discovery of radium by Skobowska-Curie; Energetic club, America, with its gift of opportunity to new citizens; True Blue Circle, Spain, and Queen Isabella's presentation of her jewels to Columbus; Japan and its art of flower club; and several other clubs also plan to participate. Mrs. James Rhodes will be in charge of the rehearsals.

Singing will be led by Miss Mettie Round, advisor for the George Washington Girl Reserves, and the members of the club, of which Jane Haven is president, will make the arrangement of songs. Music for the tableaux will be furnished by Jane Bryan at the piano and Vance Dufford, violinist.

The speaker of the evening will be Prof. Erna Grassmuck, of Indiana State Teachers College, whose subject will be "World Fellowship." Reservations must be made as soon as possible, it is announced today, either to the Y. W. C. A. or to club presidents.

Ethiopia Denies Heavy Casualties

Statement Refutes Claim Hundreds Killed By Italian Fliers

DECLARE ONLY THIRTY KILLED

(International News Service)
ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 21.—An official Ethiopian communique was issued today denying the recent Italian announcement of a bombardment of an Ethiopian army south of Makale in which thousands of Ethiopians were said to have been killed.

The Ethiopians claimed that only 30 Ethiopians were killed and 50 wounded.

According to advices received here, the Italians claimed to have killed 5,000 Ethiopians in the airplane bombardment and machine-gunning of an Ethiopian concentration in the Buia region. The Italian planes were led by Premier Mussolini's two sons and son-in-law.

(Editor's note: After the battle, the number of Ethiopians killed was estimated by the Italian headquarters at 2,000, not 5,000.)

The Ethiopian communique contended only 10 Italian airplanes took part in the bombardment, which was termed by the Italians the most serious engagement of the war.

It was announced officially here that two Italian airplanes circled three times above Harar this morning and later flew over Direddawa without dropping any bombs.

More Rioting Starts In Cairo

(International News Service)
CAIRO, Nov. 21.—Malcontents began sporadic rioting in Cairo early this afternoon as Egypt observed her "Day of Mourning" for Egyptian demonstrators killed in the recent anti-British riots.

Although the day began peacefully, and up to noon no serious incidents were reported, in the early afternoon persons called "riffraff" by British authorities stoned street cars and automobiles.

Police fired into the air and the rioters fled.

None of the major symphony orchestras have conductors who were born in this country.

Gang Leader Is Held By Police

Alleged Head Of Barbers' Association Held Under $5,000 Bond

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Arrested when he strolled into detective headquarters here after playing hide and seek with authorities for almost two weeks, Mike Cicirelli, 38, alleged extortion gang ring-leader, today was free on $5,000 bond.

Having designated himself as head of the Master Barber's association of Pennsylvania, Cicirelli and his organization were sought for threatening to bomb barber establishments if they did not buy "insurance."

With the alleged ring-leader's arrest, authorities indicated they had completed their case against the ring which played havoc with barber shops here for several days. He will be given a hearing Friday with ten others who were arrested on November 12.

Patrolman Robert Dukes was off duty last night owing to illness.

No Idle Acres On State Farms

Every Bit Of Ground At State Institutions Put
To Use

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—There are no idle acres on Pennsylvania's seventeen institutional farms. Under the planning program of the State Department of Welfare, whose supervision of the farms is directed by the Bureau of Institutional Management, the farms are operated so that every acre is called on to produce its bit in working out the general scheme.

Present total acreage of the seventeen farms is 25,564. Of this total 11,527 acres are tilled for general crop production, or for truck patches.

Of the remaining 14,037 acres approximately 7,638 are in woodlots. The woodlots are an important adjunct, providing necessary watershed for the institution reservoirs. Pasture fields comprise 3,161 acres of the remainder, while it is estimated that 528 acres are in orchards.

Giants-Cardinals Swing Secret Deal

Many Believe Terry Will Give Parmelee For Burgess Whitehead

Trade Winds Blowing Hard, Pirates Seek First String Catcher

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer.

DAYTON, O., Nov. 21.—Trade rumors were thicker than fleas on a hound dog at baseball headquarters today but actual deals were scarcer than blondes in Addis Ababa.

Minor leaguers said little and did much; major leaguers said much but did little. It was what the sardonic Rajah Hornsby calls a "finger" session, meaning the boys are feeling each other out with a view to some real bartering at the major league meetings next month.

The Cardinals and Giants completed a trade but neither will divulge its nature. However, sources close to both intimate Bill Terry is sending Bud Parmelee, fast but erratic right hander, to the Cards in even exchange for Burgess Whitehead, Frankie Frisch's understudy at second base. The writer believes there is more to the deal than this.

Wants First Baseman.
Terry said he may swing a deal for a first baseman before he leaves town today, which would indicate he has not yet landed Jim Collins. The Reds say he offered them $200,000 for Leo Scarsella, who burned up the Piedmont league for Wilmington last year, but Larry McPhail wants to keep the young man.

Terry also made a bid for Earl Brown, powerhouse hitter from the Southern league, but Pie Traynor has this tabbed as a successor to Gus Suhr, and if he stands up, why Terry is welcome to Gus.

Simmons To Detroit.
While the Cards and the Giants were hogging the spotlight, Jimmy Dykes went into a huddle with Mickey Cochrane and arranged to send Al Simmons, slugging outfielder of the White Sox, to Detroit on a straight cash basis. This one needs only the okay of Walter Briggs of the Tigers, and that okay is sure to be forthcoming as soon as Mickey explains how badly he wants his old buddy.

Connie Mack is one of the few notables not present but he managed to snare Al Williams, right hand pitcher, from Atlanta for Catcher Paul Richards and cash.

Eddie Collins, Joe McCarthy and Bucky Harris all denied there is any trade in view involving the Red Sox. Yankees or Senators but the other managers insist all three of them will divide some of Mack's best talent among them.

Big Deal Brewing.
These homobres profess to believe the Yanks will come up with Higgins, McNair and Moses and the Red Sox with Cramer and Fox. Mack would get a bundle of cash and a lot of baseball brie-a-brac in exchange. He is reported to have said he can finish eighth just as easily with a lot of five and ten ball players as he could with the high priced gentry and it would be a lot easier to pay and feed them. Bucky Harris' problem is comparatively simple. He is now trying to cut off all the high salaried boys and go to the post with a bunch of youngsters. He may go to the post with them but heaven only knows where he'll finish with them.

Pie Traynor is the busiest little trader of them all, but he can't seem to get anywhere with his offers. He made a bid for Ernie Lombardi, the Reds molasses-hoofed catcher, but was turned down flat. Then he made a bid for Phil Todd, the Philly backstop, and found the Phils had raised the ante to $50,000.

Charley Grimm professes to believe he is all set but he also says he would be willing to part with George Stainback and Chuck Klein for a starting pitcher like Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals. He also would like to take Fred Frankhouse off the Braves' hands for cash, but Bill McKechnie can do nothing until the Boston club's financial affairs are straightened out.

Incidentally Bob Quinn, business manager of the Dodgers, denies the Braves made him an offer to go with them in a similar capacity. Thus far Casey Stengel has been getting nowhere and getting there fast. Every time he mentions a deal the other fellow starts out by demanding Van Mungo and the deal is off.

Indians Want Hensley.
The Indians are still trying to induce Hensley to be "reasonable" about his price on Catcher Hensley but the wily Rajah, the best trader of them all, calmly tells them to take it or leave it. So far they are leaving it.

The Braves say when they get around to it, they will trade or sell for anybody or everybody. When all is said and done, the clubs with the cash will get what they want, which means the Giants, Yankees, Red Sox, Tigers, White Sox, Cubs and Indians will be buyers; the rest will be sellers.

Catholic Eleven Record Envious

South Side Eleven Loses First Time In Two Years; Wins 11 Games

Last week's 13-7 victory over a strong Alumni gridiron machine marked the end of a most successful season for the Catholic football team of the South Side.

During the past season, the Catholic eleven made an enviable record, winning 11 contests and losing only once, to the strong Eucers. The record shows that the South Siders defeated the strongest combinations in the city. This season's defeat marked the first loss in two years. Leonard Turco, star halfback, was high scorer, 12 touchdowns and 7 extra points for a total of 79 points. Cotton Gennock displayed fine form throughout the campaign, crossing the opponents' goal line eight times and also tallied one extra marker for a total of 49 points. Amobile was third with 33 points to his credit.

Dominick "Gabby" DeCaprio, New Castle high fullback extraordinary, who coached the South Siders, deserves much credit for the showing made by the Catholics. Lee Gairdo proved a capable assistant. The players on the team included Turco, Gennock, Amobile, Conglose, Jebbia, Orelli, Santangelo, Fonzono, Yerage, Ross, Casella, Terrell, Mastern, Reda Michael and Cialella.

German Experts Favor Schmeling

Some Of Them Regard Detroit Bomber As "Bluff"

By ERIC BOY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN.—"Joe Louis—just a big bluff. Six or eight European heavyweights could beat him any time. The so-called Brown Bomber is just made for Schmeling. When they meet next summer, and Schmeling finds the form he had against Hammer in Hamburg, there's but one logical winner—Schmeling."

This is the verdict passed by German fight experts after seeing the Baer-Louis fight film in Switzerland, where the prospective amateur team for the Olympic games fought a tournament against Swiss fighters. The film, which has not been shown yet in Germany, reveals clearly the German fans' assertion, why men like Dempsey, Tunney or Braddock picked Baer as the winner.

Co-eds Compete For Membership In Mermaid Club

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 21.—

Water-wings and inner-tubes were taboo at Westminster college this week while Freshman women competed for membership in the Mermaid club, outstanding women's swimming group, who specialize in fancy diving and fast swimming and who present an annual water carnival.

To be a member of the Mermaid club, one must swim five lengths of the pool, totalling 300 feet, using the American crawl; take three surface dives touching bottom in ten feet of water; do the back-float for one minute; tread water two minutes; be able to execute one stroke other than the crawl; execute two additional strokes for versatility, and make a running front dive in good form.

Work will begin immediately after Thanksgiving vacation on the spring water pageant, an annual event for the group.

Chattanooga Plans Night Baseball

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 21.—"The best is none too good for my fans," chortled Joe Engel recently.

Joe plans to have the best-lighted park in minor baseball. He has installed a "big league" scoreboard and each day will carry inning by inning reports from the majors.

Engel said the night-lighting equipment will pack 300 kilowatts, outshining Atlanta's 250 and Nashville and Little Rock's 180. The nearest to this is Cincinnati's 900 kilowatts.

As a rule, man's gall bladder doesn't quit working till he sets it the example.

COLLEGE GRID NOTES IN BRIEF

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Evidence Columbia will resort to passes against Brown Saturday was seen today as the Lions went into their fourth consecutive day of heavy scrimmage. With his team lined up against second-stringers armed with Bruin plays, Capt. Al Barabas directed them through a long work-out in which little attention was paid to the running game.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 21.—Minnesota's mighty football machine today prepared to annihilate Wisconsin here Saturday, thus winning its 17th consecutive victory, completing its 24th game without a defeat, and winning its second successful western conference championship. Stopping the Badger passing attack that functioned so well against Northwestern last week is Coach Bernie Bierman's chief worry.

NOTRE DAME, Nov. 21.—Coach Elmer Layden planned to coast through practice sessions today and tomorrow, in preparation for the Southern California game here on Saturday, taking no chances on further injury to the Notre Dame variety. After a short tackling drill, the Irish spent the best of yesterday's practice in dummy scrimmages against Southern Cal. passes.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21.—Driving for a victory over Michigan and thereby a share of the big ten championship, Ohio State will hold its last home practice of the year here today, the squad will leave tomorrow for Dearborn, Mich., going on to Ann Arbor just before game time Saturday. Stan Pincura, one of the most accurate passers in the conference, may be kept out of the game because of injuries, received playing against Chicago last week.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Following reports from the Motor City sector that the last from Detroit University will invade Pittsburgh for Saturday's tilt girded with an airtight line, Coach Christy Flanagan today sent his Duquesne University proteges through long sessions brushing up on the art of overhead attack. The Dukes will taper off with light drills tomorrow when the Titans are due to arrive.

Sharon To Bring Powerful Eleven Here Next Week

Football fans who attend the Thanksgiving Day game at Taggart Stadium are going to find two of the finest schoolboy teams in Western Pennsylvania in action. New Castle high is one of the recognized W. P. I. A. L. contenders. Sharon high this year won the Northwestern Pennsylvania championship.

There is considerable interest in the game to be unfolded here Turkey Day next Thursday. The two teams battled to a 0-0 deadlock at Sharon last year and were far from satisfied with the outcome. The game here next week promises to be one of the best of the year. The rivalry between New Castle and Sharon is very keen. It has been keen for many years.

New Castle has played ten games and won all but one, that being tied 7-7 at Charleroi. Sharon high has lost one game to Rayen of Youngstown, the team that tied Canton high this year. Sharon tied Warren 6-6, and has won all of the rest, taking not only the Mercer county title, but also the district toga. Coach Dave Stewart is going to shoot the works against New Castle. Sharon fondlest dream at the moment is to upset the mighty New Castle eleven coached by Phil Bridenbaugh.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Sporting Goods store, and there are many choice seats left. The game will no doubt draw the biggest crowd of the year to Taggart Stadium. It will have all of the color of a big college setting. Faculty Manager Gardner is making arrangements to put in extra seats if necessary to handle the mammoth crowd.

New Castle will be without the services of Eddie Donegan in the Thanksgiving Day game. Donegan suffered a fractured vertebra in his back in the New New high game, Leroy Cox or "Dudy" Perrett will more than likely be at the right-halfback post.

Only light drills are being indulged in by the New Castle high team this week.

Schedule For Titans In 1936

Eight Games To Be Played, Prof. John Lawther Announces

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 21.—

The 1936 Westminster college football schedule has been announced by Professor John Lawther, director of athletics, and head of the Department of Psychology, Westminster college.

The schedule will not exceed eight games and the first four contests of the season will be played at home. The schedule is as follows: Mount Union, home—Oct. 3. Bethany, home—Oct. 10. Slippery Rock, home—Oct. 17. Geneva, home—Oct. 24.

Edinboro (tentative)—Nov. 7. Allegheny, Meadville—Nov. 14. Muskingum, New Concord, O. (tentative)—Nov. 21 or Thanksgiving Day.

Allegheny and Bethany have not been seen of the Westminster campus for several years. The new athletic program emphasizes games with schools of the same class and strength as Westminster. In seasons past, the Titans have usually taken on at least two "big time" schools, last year Pitt and Fordham; but for the next season, no out-of-class games will be booked.

The National Association of Baseball clubs has upheld the Mid-Atlantic league and its president, Elmer Daily, in fining the Dayton club $900.00 for violation of the non-class rule late in the 1935 season. The club was fined $50.00 per day for carrying more than the minimum number of class men for 18 days. The action was taken at Dayton.

Titans Close Grid Season

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. Nov. 21.—

The 1935 Westminster college football team broke a ten year old scoring record this season when they scored 45 points against Edinboro but finished the season 48 points below last year's record.

Waynesburg held the best scoring record against the Titans with 31 points; Mt. Union was second with 27 points. The Titans ranked 26 among the 36 district colleges of which one opponent, Geneva, was first with a record of seven wins and one defeat.

James Bailey, Sharon halfback, led the Westminster scoring with 24 points coming on four touchdowns. In the season just closed, Gilbane's team won two games and lost five, failing to score in three games and twice holding their opponents scoreless. During the season, the Gilbanes scored 71 points to 134 by their opponents.

Last year Bill Gilbane led the Titans gridgers to three wins three losses and one tie, for a 33 per centage. This year's team played 285 ball. The season's record stands as follows:

Westminster 6—Slippery Rock 26.
Westminster 0—Mt. Union 27.
Westminster 0—Waynesburg 31.
Westminster 14—Muskingum 25.
Westminster 45—Edinboro 0.
Westminster 6—Morris-Harvey 0.
Westminster 0—Geneva 25.

Faculty Teams Plan For Game

The faculty basketball teams of George Washington high and Ben Franklin high will tangle at the Washington high court at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, it is alleged. It will be a battle of brawn and wits.

Wheeler To Defend Crown At Quebec

Dog Race Over Snow To Be Held Next February

QUEBEC, Nov. 21.—Quebec's 1936 International Dog Derby will be held on February 20, 21 and 22 next, it has been announced by organizers of the event.

Harry Wheeler, winner of the 1935 race, has already promised to be on hand to defend his crown, and promoters hope Emil St. Goddard, Leonhardt Seppala and other outstanding mushers will compete to help make the race truly international. Last winter St. Goddard and other drivers withdrew at the last minute, to rob the race of all international flavor, and make it a truly local event.

Leading drivers throughout Canada and the United States are being communicated with, and informed that the distance to be run will again be 120 miles, divided into three 40-mile laps.

Dartmouth Eyes Rose Bowl Bid

Dartmouth Must Hurdle Princeton Saturday To Be Recognized

COACHES WOULD ACCEPT TRIP

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Although it seems wholly possible that, by 4 o'clock on Saturday, the matter may be one that couldn't possibly interest either party, President Hopkins of Dartmouth wishes to take proper precautions. He has declined an invitation that hadn't yet been extended, saying that he doesn't want the Rose Bowl bid for his football team.

Must Beat Princeton.
What he may not know is that his football team and its staff of coaches are understood to want the Rose Bowl bid and so do a lot of Dartmouth men in New York and elsewhere. The Princeton game on Saturday may alter that but, as it stands, Dartmouth opinion pretty generally sees no valid objection to its football team being singled out for honor and attention as the representative of the east. They, as a matter of fact, are inclined to approve of honor.

Princeton sentiment, too, is understood to run along the same lines, although officially it is giving the proposal a well bred sneer. It sees the Rose Bowl game as a commercial proposition, which is a joke in view of certain facts in connection with Princeton football.

Being in the autumn or red financially, it is so idealistic that it is taking the shortest cut toward the indigo or blue. It has dropped, for purposes of 1936, two small colleges who do not draw any more than the substitutes on the sidelines and is adding the Army and Chicago.

Moreover, the athletic association was $150,000 in the red when Fritz Crisler and the high-pressure act was brought to Princeton a few years ago—with consequent and immediate benefit to all concerned.

In the light of this fact the Rose Bowl is no more commercial than a mass drill. Its parent is still the main idea, with the football game affording some national window dressing. In addition it's really run by the Pacific Coast conference which observes an eligibility and moral code at least as strict as Princeton's.

However, if they want a football game out there, I advise them to go into the southwest and name either Southern Methodist or Texas Christian or go all the way to the north-east for Holy Cross. The way things are, Minnesota is probably the best team in the country, with the two southwest entries second and maybe Princeton third. But Minnesota can't accept because of the Big Ten agreement; Princeton is unavailable because of the Big Three agreement and Dartmouth has taken an out through its president.

In view of this, all I can say is that there are too many agreements and not enough football teams.

Pitt Battles Tech Thanksgiving Day

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Jock Sutherland's Panthers get a rest for the next few days before their battle with Carnegie Tech on Thanksgiving Day. There is no game carded for this Saturday which will not be hard for the hard-worked members of the Pitt varsity squad to take.

Despite the fact that Carnegie Tech has had an unsuccessful season from the standpoint of maintaining a winning percentage, the Panthers are not going to be very easy for Jock Sutherland's outfit. In every game this fall, the Skibo have carried their opponents of the week to the limit. Notre Dame, Temple, Holy Cross, N. Y. U. and Duquesne, all of whom have registered victories over the Plaid, are leading teams, and in each case the score was close.

Only once this fall has Tech struck its true stride, that being against Purdue when the Boiler-makers were upset by a 7-0 score. It is the memory of this test that gives Tech hope, for Purdue has a better record against some of Pitt's opponents than have the Panthers themselves. The Tartans are coached by a man who piloted Tech teams to two victories over Pitt in his playing days, and it would be the crowning achievement in his record this far as a coach if he would be able to upset the Panthers on Thanksgiving.

Tech will present one of the biggest teams to meet Pitt all season, and the squad has been tested by fire. The Plaid quarter backs will be able to shoot the works for it will be a case of a team having everything to gain with practically nothing to lose.

For Pitt the game will mark the last home appearance of four regulars, and several outstanding reserves. It will be the last game in the Pitt stadium for Vin Sites, end; Nick Klesky, center; Hub Randour, halfback; Art Detzel, tackle. Strong reserves making their farewell appearance will be Marwood Stirk, guard; Leon Sheddocky, half-back; Len Rector, fullback; Art Schindel, end; Earl McCue, guard; and Leon Wohlgenuth, guard.

McCoy Invents New Football

New Ball Has No Opening In Side And No Lacing

(International News Service)
BOSTON—Head Coach Al McCoy of Northeastern university has come out with an invention, which it is expected, will revolutionize the football industry.

McCoy's invention is a new type football, having the appearance of a leather egg, with no opening in the side and no lacing, but otherwise the same as the ball now being used.

The dimensions of the new ball are the same as the regulation ball, 28½ inches in circumference around the long axis, not more than 21-4 inches on the short axis, and not more than 11-4 inches in length. It also meets the requirement that no football weigh more than 15 ounces.

McCoy is also generally credited with bringing the new style basketball—lacedless—into prominence on New England courts. At the time of that innovation it was as hard to introduce as the new football is today, but it is expected that in time the football will become as popular as the basketball.

Controversy On Grid Scouting With Cameras

Charge Duke With Scouting North Carolina With Movie Cameras

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—There is nothing in the rules and regulations of either the national collegiate athletic association or the football coaches association that makes scouting by motion picture camera illegal.

At least, Lou Little, famous head coach at Columbia, can't recall anything.

No Rule Against It
Little, a member of the coaches' advisory committee to the football rules committee, said today he could not remember any discussion of movie scouting at any of the meetings he had attended, nor was he aware of anything in the official rules against the practice.

Disclosure that Duke scouted North Carolina with film cameras for the game between the two southern institutions last Saturday has stirred up considerable excitement in the southland. The practice was called "ungentlemanly and unethical" in a denunciation from the North Carolina campus. While coach Wallace Wade, of Duke, retorted with the assertion there was no rule against it.

Wade was asked what other teams have been scouted by the movie cameras, and replied that they had been used only on North Carolina. He said they were used in the open.

"Aren't the others doing the same thing?" Wade asked. "What agreement is there against it?"

Perfectly Legal
"I have no protest," coach Carl Shively, of the Tarheels, when asked to comment on the matter, "and I have no comment to make except that I have never used movie pictures for scouting purposes."

Forest Fletcher, of Washington & Lee, president of the southern conference, was asked for an opinion of the practice by Wade. Fletcher replied:

"Inasmuch as there is no conference rule against using pictures in football I can see no reason for an objection."

FISHING SEASON NEARING END
HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—The warm water fishing season for game fish closes in Pennsylvania inland waters on November 30. After that date, the Fish Commission announces it will no longer be legal to catch black bass, rock bass, white bass, crappie, strawberry or calico bass, grass bass, pike-perch or wall-eyed pike, pickerel or muskellunge. The season on lake trout, found in a few Pennsylvania lakes, Crystal Lake and Ely Lake, Susquehanna county, and Harvey's Lake, Luzerne county, closed on September 29.

Thiel Prepares For Grove City

Greenville Team Is Hopeful Of Victory On Saturday At Grove City

(Special To The News)
GREENVILLE, Nov. 21.—The entire Thiel football squad has been working hard this week to accomplish a common goal; namely, the defeat of Grove City next Saturday. For the past twelve years the Crimson eleven has managed to outscore the Lutherans from Greenville. A tie score in 1929 was the nearest the Tomcats could come to upsetting the jinx of closing season game. Last year the Grove City boys gained a victory over Thiel after losing the first half by two touchdowns.

This year, however, the Tomcats are the favorites to win, and if the twenty five men have anything to say about it, the old victory bell behind Ridgeway Hall will peal far into the night, celebrating the termination of the Grover's winning streak over the Tomcats.

This will be the last game for five seniors: Co-Captain Sherm Stanford, Sheffield, Pa.; Co-Captain Rudy Bruggeman, Irwin, Pa.; Bob Strimer, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Cec Miller, and John Hess, Greenville, Pa. The Tomcats were defeated last Saturday when the Slippery Rock Rockets took to the air to come from behind and win by a 12-7 score.

All members of the club are invited to attend, also any others who would like to shoot. The range has been reconditioned and everything is in readiness for a big season of banging the targets.

MEET ON FRIDAY
Members of the Nonpareil Rifle Club will have their first indoor meeting and rifle shoot of the winter tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the west side garage range, it was announced by Karl Rohrer. The Nonpareil club will shoot every Tuesday and Thursday night this coming winter.

ASKS $10,000 FOR AUTO INJURIES
(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Nov. 21.—Margaret Dye has entered suit against Glenn Mathieson in the Mercer county court, seeking to recover damages of $10,000 for injuries sustained in an automobile accident last summer. Both parties reside here. Miss Dye was a passenger in Mr. Mathieson's automobile.

Miss Dye claims that she was injured so seriously that she was unable to work for many weeks, when the defendant's car collided with a guard rail on route 18, showering her with broken glass and breaking her nose.

Market Tone Is Steadier,
But Rallying Power Is Limited

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The stock market showed a steadier tone today but rallying power was limited. Ralls were stimulated by news that New York Central would pay $15,000,000 for the loans of more than $15,000,000 falling due on Dec. 1. Central rose nearly a point as a result and other carriers shares improved.

Utilities continued to reflect the battle of the major companies against the holding company law, plus the weekly records in power production. Consolidated Gas was in active demand.

Motors moved in a narrow range around the previous close. The same was true of accessories.

Steels were mixed. Bethlehem was down slightly while U. S. Steel was steady. DuPont lost a point in the chemicals. Westinghouse firmed up after its 4-point drop yesterday. Communications were firmer with American Telephone edging forward. Commercial Solvents was an active liquor issue.

Has Tureen Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—A regular meeting of the Missionary Society of the Trinity Lutheran church was held last evening in the form of a tureen dinner at 6:15 in the dining room of the church with covers laid for 43.

The occasion was also a birthday party for Mrs. Ladebu who is now celebrating her 90th anniversary. A large birthday cake made an attractive center piece. Mrs. Ladebu also received a handkerchief shower, 32 being presented by the company.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. C. E. Hollerman for the 21 members and 13 guests present. Mrs. Hollerman also gave a report on the recent convention in Freedom, November 7.

New members admitted at this time were Mrs. Harry Gables, Mrs. Emil Metzger and Mrs. Harry Goehring. It was announced that at the next meeting to be held December 18 at the home of Mrs. C. H. Blank on Sixth street an exchange of gifts will be held. Mrs. George Garman will be the leader for the occasion.

Birthday Event Is Honored By Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—In honor of the 75th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Henry Stockey of Zellenople, Mrs. C. C. Davidson entertained at dinner a few relatives and friends at her home on Park avenue Wednesday evening.

A beautiful birthday cake formed an attractive centerpiece. A delightful social time was enjoyed after dinner. Those present on the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stockey and daughter Carrie, Mr. and Mrs. A. Herman, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Ross and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Davidson. Mr. and Mrs. Stockey are an uncle and aunt of Mrs. Davidson.

MISS JERRY SARVER IS CHARMING HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—Miss Jerry Sarver was a charming hostess to members of the M. S. H. club who met at her home in Burnstown last night for their semi-monthly meeting.

Routine matters were discussed during the business meeting after which many interesting dances were performed. After this cards were enjoyed by all.

At a suitable hour a delicious spaghetti dinner was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Flanagan. A special meeting will be held November 29 at the home of Miss Flanagan in honor of Miss Elizabeth Gettig who is planning to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents. Miss Gettig is a student of Bucknell college at the present time.

DAMES OF MALTA HAVE CARD PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—A fine card party was held last night by the Dames of Malta in the V. of F. W. hall on Fourth street. There was a good turnout present.

Mrs. Ralph Billig and Mrs. Alex Baney won the prizes for bingo. A short business meeting had preceded the games. The lodge will meet again in two weeks.

Ellwood City Institution Pays
$23,000 For Citizens
Bank Building

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—At a meeting of the Ellwood City Building & Loan Association last night the board of directors decided to purchase the Citizens bank building at the corner of Sixth street and Lawrence avenue for $23,000.

The building is a two-story brick structure, which will be admirably adapted for use by the Building & Loan Association. The purchase is being made from the receiver of the bank.

The Building & Loan will remodel the interior to suit the needs of the association and will move in as soon as the work is completed.

The Ellwood Building & Loan is one of the older financial institutions of the city and has weathered the depression in good shape.

G. G. CLUB MEMBERS
MEET LAST NIGHT

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—Members of the G. G. club assembled at the home of Miss Dortha Hill on Fountain avenue last night for their regular meeting. Miss Esther Breneman and Miss Helen Kissick were special guests.

Bridge at two tables occupied the attention of those present for the greater part of the evening. Miss Bonnie Williams and Miss Kissick were presented with the prizes at the conclusion of the game.

The hostess with the assistance of Miss Ada Irwin served a dainty luncheon at a later hour. Mrs. Howard Eisenberg will entertain the club in two weeks.

C. I. A. MEMBERS
MEET WEDNESDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—Miss Margaretta Hall delightfully entertained the members of the C. I. A. club Wednesday evening at her home on Todd avenue.

Bridge was the chief diversion of the evening, with two tables in play. Miss Kay Murphy received the prize for high score at the close of the games.

A luncheon was served at a later hour by the hostess with the assistance of Miss Marie Bartle and Janet Mook. In two weeks the club will meet with Miss Virginia Hall on Sixth street.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HAS ALL-DAY MEETING

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—An all-day meeting of the Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church was held here yesterday.

During the business meeting it was planned to have a tea and banquet some time preceding the Christmas holidays. Other routine matters were discussed. A general social time followed and a tasty luncheon was served to the fifteen members present.

The next meeting of the society will be December 18.

MRS. CARL ZEIGLER IS CLUB HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Carl Zeigler was hostess to the Smart Set club at the Hostess House on Glen avenue yesterday afternoon. One special guest was present.

Two tables of bridge were in play during the day with Mrs. Herbert Davis and Mrs. Bruce Hunter winning the prizes. A delectable luncheon preceded the card games.

Mrs. Davis will entertain the club at the same place next Wednesday.

Phalanx Frat Has Meeting Wednesday

Plan To Attend Service In Christian Missionary Alliance In Body Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—The Ellwood City Phalanx fraternity met Wednesday evening in the club rooms with an attendance of 16 members and the mentor, Thomas Patterson.

Milo Morrison of the service committee gave a report on the progress of the Red Cross drive being conducted in the business sections of Ellwood City by the Phalanx members. He announced also that the Phalanx will take care of a needy family at Thanksgiving time.

Further plans were made for the Thanksgiving ball to be held at the Ellwood City Country club on November 29, with Theron Aiken's committee in charge of arrangements.

In accordance with the usual custom, the fraternity will attend next Sunday in a body the morning church services of the Christian Missionary Alliance on Bell avenue. The meeting was adjourned with the announcement that the club will enjoy a feed on the first meeting night in December.

Knox Group Packs
Missionary Boxes

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Charles Foreman proved to be a pleasing hostess yesterday when she opened her home on the Ellwood-Zellenople road to members of the Women's Missionary society of the Knox Presbyterian church who gathered for an all day meeting.

Seventeen members and six guests from Mrs. Galbreath and Mrs. Hennon of Wampum, Mrs. Holbine, Mrs. Henry Druschel, Mrs. Elmer Moyer and Mrs. Charles Druschel, participated.

Following a delicious dinner Mrs. R. E. Bell had charge of the study period, with Siam and Southern Missions being the topic with interesting papers being given by Mrs. William Slade, Mrs. Carl Mathews, Mrs. Charles Hauserman and Mrs. Clarence Yahn. Two boxes of clothing for the southern missions was packed at this time.

Mrs. Hugh Hardie invited the group to meet at her home at North Sewickley for the next meeting on Wednesday, December 18, when the annual Christmas party will be held.

Motor Burns On Santa Fe Train

Probe Burning Of Motor
On Diesel-Engined
"Super Chief"

(International News Service)
CALIF., Nov. 21.—The Santa Fe railroad's Diesel-engined "super Chief" locomotive stood in the yards here today pending an investigation into the cause of the burning of one of its motors last night.

The train was attempting to break records for the run from Chicago to the Pacific coast when it was stopped at Dilco, nine miles west of here, by the burning of one of its engines. Passengers were transferred to the regular "Chief" for the remainder of their trip to Los Angeles.

Santa Fe officials here emphatically denied reports that passengers were injured. The train, consisting of eight regular cars and the stream-lined engine, stopped smoothly at Dilco, they declared. H. Wilson, superintendent of the Albuquerque division of the railroad, was burned "very slightly."

At the time of its arrival here from the east shortly before 8 o'clock last night, the "Super Chief" was running about two hours ahead of schedule.

Amusement Tax
Warnings Issued

Some Returns Are Not Being Made Divisional Chief Reports

Warnings have been sent out by the divisional chief of the Stamp and Amusement Tax Division of the State Department of Revenue, to all persons who come within the scope of the amusement tax law. Returns are not being made and in many cases permits are not being taken out. A heavy fine is the penalty for failure to do either.

The law is a drastic one. It provides that plays, movies, concerts, musicals, card parties, bingo, bowling, pool, swimming parties, golf, skating, football and other similar sports and dancing come within the provisions and any person putting on such forms of public entertainment are liable for the tax.

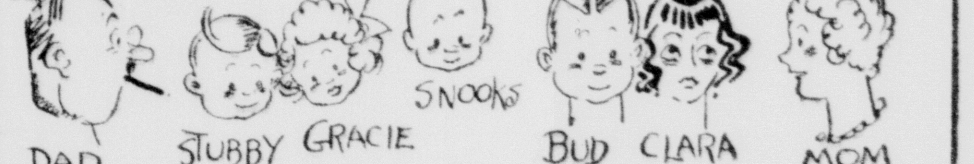

Restaurants in which dancing is permitted, either to the music of a band, radio or music box, must pay the tax and the proprietors must secure a permit from the Department of Revenue. All social clubs, country clubs or golf clubs are liable for the tax on both membership and activities fees.

Permits can be secured from the Department of Revenue, Stamp and Amusement Taxes, 409 Plaza Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

All persons who are required to take out permits and make returns are warned that the full penalty of the law will be invoked where the provisions of the law are not fulfilled.

Date Deferred
For Arguments
On Clark Trial

December 17 Is Date For Hearing Of State
Senator's Plea

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Counsel for state Senator William H. Clark today had until December 17 to shape their argument to show why the convicted Chester Republican leader should have a new trial on charges of extortion and malfeasance in office.

An announcement that the new trial arguments had been deferred until that date was made by district attorney Karl E. Richards of Dauphin county. Originally, it had been planned by president judge William M. Hargest to hear the attorney's on December 4, the next regular "argument day."

The extension to mid-December appeared to mean that the double investigation of a charge of prejudice in the defense motion, together with their "sensational" findings, would remain bottled up for almost another month.

Whether the decision to shift the argument date was related in any way to the fact that the special senate committee investigating lobbyists for the Pittsburgh "ripper" bill had fixed its next hearing for December 3, also in Harrisburg, was not revealed. Alleged efforts to "buy" votes for the Ripper with administration patronage figured in the Clark trial.

Crowd Of Youths
At "Open House"
Held In Y. M. C. A.

Approximately 70 young men of the New Castle Y. M. C. A. participated in an "open house" celebration of the association last night. A sports program was followed by an informal social period during which refreshments were served.

Sponsoring the festivities was The Townsman organization, formerly the Phalanx fraternity. The Key Men's club physical department group, arranged the sports activities. The gymnasium and the swimming pool of the association as well as the billiard and pool tables were popular with participants all evening.

A group of Sharon Phalanx fraternity members, headed by their mentor, Charles Webb, were special guests.

Activities began about 8 and continued until the lunch was served later in the evening.

Battle Against League Sanctions Waged By Italy

Hoard Of Gold, Schoolboy Treasures And Old Brass, In War Chest

NATIONAL SEAL FOR ITALIAN GOODS

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Nov. 21.—Italy's campaign to resist League of Nations sanctions got underway in earnest today as misers' hoards of gold, schoolboy treasures and huge quantities of old brass poured into Italy's war chest.

Children went to class rooms carrying brass and copper kettles, family jewelry and old pieces of table silverware—all intended to help 11 Duce fight Ethiopia and the more than 50 other nations penalizing his African campaign by financial and economic sanctions.

To guarantee that products sold as Italian are genuine, authorities created a "seal of national products" to be affixed to all Italian goods.

The ministry of "cooperation" assumed control over every industrial commercial activity, seeking ways of increasing industrial and agricultural production to prevent Italy from being starved into submission by the League of Nations boycott.

Italians throughout the nation contributed everything possible to augment the supply of metal which will be turned into money to purchase goods abroad or into shells to carry out Mussolini's aims in Ethiopia.

Every available piece of ground was utilized to produce wheat and vegetables to supplement the nation's rationed food supplies.

In Turin, school children and others contributed 46,000 grams of gold and 22,800 grams of silver toward the anti-sanction campaign.

sulting in the deaths of three persons and illness of fifteen others. Joseph Rosenthal, proprietor of the department store at which 800 pounds of the baking soda in bulk was purchased by customers, and Nicholas Manno, owner of a salvage company which sold the soda to Rosenthal, arrested for violating a city pure food ordinance, were released on $250 bail each.

Mussolini Orders Soldiers To Work

Instead Of Fighting In Africa
100,000 Will Go Into Factories

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Premier Mussolini today directed that 100,000 soldiers ready for military war in East Africa be shifted to fight on the economic front to defend Italy against the effects of sanctions being applied by more than 50 nations of the world, exchange telegraph reported in a dispatch from Rome.

The Italian government decided to grant leave to the 100,000 soldiers now mobilized in metropolitan areas, in order that they may immediately go to farms and factories to aid in the fight against sanctions, exchange said.

McNair To Appear With Rudy Vallee

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Versatile William Nisley McNair, mayor, lawyer, crusader, actor and humorist, adds another link to the chain of titles tonight.

He is slated to make his debut as a network radio artist at New York when he will wisecrack for five minutes on the Rudy Vallee program. Just what lines his skit will include, hizzoner himself doesn't know yet, but he is unconcernedly leaving that to the script writers.

As was true when he filled a week's engagement at a fancy price in a local theatre, however, there is no guarantee he will stick to his lines.

Heart On Wrong Side But This Boy Don't Mind

His Liver, Stomach, Kidneys And Other Organs All In Wrong Places

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Bobby Lippert "feels swell" but to look at him through a fluoroscope you would never think so.

Four-year-old Bobby is about as rare a case in medical history as quintuplets, because all of his internal organs are mixed up.

For instance his heart is on the right side, his liver is on the left, and his stomach is on the right, but all are wrong! His right kidney is on the left and his left kidney is on the right—the only place left for it to be.

Bobby's unusual predicament was discovered when physicians examined him to treat his tonsils and adenoids. Prior to that no one, including Bobby, had ever dreamed anyone could be so inverted on the inside. In spite of the mix-up, which physicians call complete situs inversus, Bobby's organs all function normally.

He is a healthy active youngster and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lippert of Homestead Park, never realize such a condition could be possible. So now they are arranging for examinations of their other sons, to see if the whole family reads from right to left instead of from left to right.

Doctors Are Named To Examine Pupils

WOMAN OUT LATE HAS TO CALL FIREMEN TO GET INTO HER HOME

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—"I'm locked out. Could you send a couple of firemen?" was the unusual request that routed Fire Chief Swartz out of bed at 4:30 in the morning.

It was an hour when sleep was at a premium, but gallantry prevailed and Chief Swartz dashed over to the firehouse and called a couple of "the boys."

They took a truck and ladder to where the lady in distress was shivering in the cold. A ladder was run up to the second floor and up went the lady.

Mystery Shooting Of WPA Worker Is Partly Cleared

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Nov. 21.—The mystery slaying of William C. McFarland, 55, Marion Hill WPA worker, was partly solved today with the alleged confession of Herman Sanderbeck, 30, of W. Bridge-water.

According to the purported confession of Sanderbeck, McFarland was shot by a person unknown who surprised them while he and McFarland were in the act of stealing chickens from a henhouse in North Rochester township.

McFarland had staggered home late that night and complained to his mother of intense pains in his abdomen. The family physician found him dead when he called.

The shooting was revealed when Lyle S. Lutton 84 year old undertaker of Beaver Falls, discovered a bullet wound while preparing the body for burial.

Relief Director Gets Orders On W.P.A. Workers

Similar to orders received by the Works Progress Administration, James W. Moorhead, director of relief area 10 has received orders that to the effect that no more emergency relief can be granted to any employees on WPA whose case has been closed by the local relief administration on account of having received a full pay or a part pay that equals or exceeds the budget deficiency.

Briefly this means that no WPA worker can get an emergency food order to bridge over a period when his pay check is late.

Oldest Democrat At Youngstown Dies

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 21.—Wiry, little "Johnny" McNicholas, who gloried in the title of Mahoning county's oldest Democrat, and missed voting in only two elections, died today, less than two months before his 101st birthday.

McNicholas, father of James J. McNicholas, retired police chief, was born in County Mayo, Ireland, Jan. 12, 1836, a few months before Ireland's famous "night of the big wind." He came to Pittsburgh in 1860, and missed the 1862 draft in the Civil war because he had not been in the country long enough. He came here in 1873, and was a tanner.

GOOD CROP SEASON CLOSES IN STATE

HARRISBURG.—The crop season in Pennsylvania was brought to a close during October under favorable weather conditions, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.
Estimates of acre yields of all important crops are above the five-year average and total production will in most cases, equal or exceed the average crop of the 1929-1933 period.

Changes in crop estimates from October 1 to November 1 included slight increases in corn and apples, with slight decreases in the buckwheat, potato, tobacco, and grape figures.
